Jews Blaming British For Invasion By Arabs

Old Bessie, The Firetruck, Stands Chance For Reprieve

Old Bessie, whose death warrant was signed by Circleville city council last week, stands a good chance of getting a reprieve.

Bessie, a fire truck of 1914 vintage, will end up not on a junk heap but in Ted Lewis Park if the local Child Study Club's current campaign is successful.

Idea of the whole thing is simple:

It will help youngsters realize an age-old juvenile ambition of being able to "drive" a firetruck as well as to add one more recreational facility to the park.

The idea of the club, which already has the approval of the Ted Lewis Park Board, is to strip the ancient old fire-fighting buggy of most of its gear—strip her down to where there is little left but the frame, wheels and steering wheel.

Taking out the motor and removing the tires probably will be recommended. The remainder—including the bell, the club hopes will be set on cement blocks and the kids turned loose to "play fire-man."

John Heiskell, chairman of the park board, lauded the club's idea. He said:

"It fits in with modern playground philosophy. Modern recreational experts say that kids get more enjoyment if they have chance to play with things which are temptations outside the playground."

He explained that "all kids like to walk railroad tracks, crawl through sewer tile and climb over an automobile.

"We hope to lay a railroad rail in the park and anchor a large cement tile at the park for climbing purposes." He added:

"If we can get that old fire-truck, it will be just the thing to give the youngsters something else with which to play. We have plenty of swings, slides and ocean-waves, but they do not satisfy a youngster's urge to play with things of unusual nature."

Whether the Child Study Club will realize its goal remained a moot question Tuesday.

City council granted Fire Chief Talmer Wise the right to offer Old Bessie for sale.

The chief doubted any group would want to purchase the truck as a regular fire-fighting unit since her age made her "just too old to do any good."

Chief Wise told councilmen that "Old Bessie can't stand the gaff of a two-block run and even if she could get to a fire, she couldn't pour a stream of water over the hood."

The Circleville fire boss said Tuesday he thought the Child Study Club's idea "is a good one and I'll do everything I can to see it realized."

Meanwhile club members are quietly contacting other city officials—Mayor Thurman I. Miller and City Solicitor George Gerhardt—to see what can be arranged.

Firm Action By UN Urged By Agency

Troops Deployed Along Jordan

LAKE SUCCESS, April 27—The Jewish Agency warned the United Nations today that Britain bears full responsibility for any Transjordan invasion of Palestine.

Moshe Shertok, spokesman for the agency, told the 58-nation political and security committee that both the General Assembly and the Security Council must deal with the threatened Arab aggression.

The agency representative said that in addition to the anticipated "firm action" by the United Nations, the Jewish faction is making "every possible preparation to meet the next phase of the onslaught with our own forces."

Shertok's reference to the Security Council echoed an already strong sentiment among the delegations to call the Arab states to task if they follow the lead of Transjordan and invade the Holy Land.

A first penalty no doubt will be the nullifying of Transjordan's application for UN membership.

THE ARAB sword-rattle caused the 2-nation trusteeship council to hasten its deliberations for drafting a neutrality pact in regards to Jerusalem.

The action came as crack Arab Legion troops deployed on both sides of the Allenby bridge across the River Jordan.

The move was made despite a London warning that British troops will resist any "incursion" of Palestine by the Arabs before the Holy Land mandate is surrendered May 15.

Reports in Jerusalem said that the legionnaires at the bridge were covered by armored cars and went to work mounting two-pounders.

This development followed the announced decision of Transjordan's King Abdullah to move the Arab armies into Palestine in which he was reported joined (Continued on Page Two)

Bullets Slow Japan Riots

Korean Trouble Blamed On Reds

OSAKA, April 27—Gunfire has been used to quell rioting in Japan for the first time since the Allied occupation began.

As a result, one Korean died today and two others are in critical condition from wounds inflicted by Japanese police bullets fired in stemming a riotous onrush against Osaka's prefectural palace last night.

The attempted storming of the government building climaxed three days of Korean disorders in the twin port cities of Kobe and Osaka.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, and other Army officials laid the disturbances directly on the doorstep of Communist agitators, both Korean and Japanese.

Eichelberger announced that the situation now was "quiet and completely under control." Other American Army authorities however predicted a month of demonstrations and strikes among Koreans and Japanese.

IN ADDITION to the one fatality and the two cases of critical wounds, approximately 30 other persons were less seriously injured in the Osaka battle between 4,000 Japanese police and 8,000 to 10,000 rioters. The city's police chief, Eiji Suzuki, announced he had given the command to open fire when the mob moved on the prefectural building. He acknowledged that three Koreans were shot.

So Bun Ki, leader of the Korean League, confirmed the death of one of three Koreans struck by bullets. He said another man was gravely wounded and a 14-year-old girl so seriously injured she may die.

With nearly 125 men from the Steidle-Wolfe Construction Co. and several sub-contractors swarming over the site, work is rapidly moving eastward on the new plant while the west end of the plant begins to take on the proportions of a building.

Concrete is still being pushed through the "pump-crete" to the east end of the plant, completing the foundation work.

Plumbing and carpentry work is being completed as the building takes form.

With the advent of Summer-like weather, officials said construction will soon get into high gear, and the frame-work will crawl toward the east end more rapidly.

Bock In Bathtub Brings Breakup

CHICAGO, April 27—From bock to breakup. That was the pattern of Mrs. Dorothy Hull's marital discord as contained in her suit today in superior court for divorce from George W. Hull, 30.

The 27-year-old housewife charged that George tossed her into a bathtub filled with beer on Easter Sunday.

Added to her discomfort, she said, was a sprained ankle she suffered while squirming around in the suds.

FROM A GRATEFUL STATE Tomorrow Is M-Day Here; Bonuses To Start Rolling

COLUMBUS, April 27—Tomorrow is M-Day for Ohio veterans of World War II. M-Day is Mailing Day, when the first 1,930 bonus checks go into the mail. The 1,724 checks to Army veterans will total $584,537; the 206 Navy checks will add up to $67,620 for a total of $652,157.

That's just M-Day's total. When the final check is mailed at someday far in the future, an estimated 800,000 veterans will have received more than $250 million from a grateful Buckeye State.

The checks will be trucked to the Columbus postoffice, and most of them should be in the hands of the recipients by Thursday. From then on, the trickle will swell into a steady stream.

Jimmy Flood, 23-year-old farmer's helper of near Quaker City, will get Check No. 1, for $220. The maximum check, based on a scale of $15 for each month's overseas service and $10 for each month in service in this country, is $400.

By June 1, the bonus headquarters in Columbus hopes to be mailing 5,000 checks a day. Within six months the bulk of the job will be over, with more than 600,000 checks mailed. The remaining 250,000 will be processed as the applications of the tardy ones come straggling in.

The checks must be cashed within 60 days or they become void.

To date, 355,319 applications have been received, and are being processed on a first-come-first-served basis.

Paralyzing Rail Strike Looming As Cooling-Off Period Nears End

CHICAGO, April 27—The threat of a paralyzing railroad strike hangs over the nation today as officials of the carriers and three operating brotherhoods reconvene to attempt to avert a walkout.

A meeting yesterday brought no results. The three brotherhoods, locomotive engineers, firemen and engine men and switchmen, still insisted on their original demands for a 30 percent wage increase and their suggested changes for working rules.

Tonight at midnight will mark the end of the 30-day cooling off period which followed the rejection by the unions of the presidential emergency's board's recommendation for an increase of 15-1/2 cents an hour and certain changes in operating rules.

The date for the strike, which involves an estimated 225,000 operating railroad workers, probably will be set in Cleveland by the negotiating committees of the three brotherhoods.

GENERAL chairmen of the three operating unions turned down the emergency board's recommendations as "entirely unacceptable" and asked for new conferences with railroad officials which opened in Chicago last April 14.

The general chairmen then specified that, if these final parleys fail to bring results by today's deadline, a strike call shall be set as soon thereafter as possible.

Light Pennsy Vote Expected
PHILADELPHIA, April 27—Early voting was light in Pennsylvania today as the strength of three leading Republican presidential contenders was tested in a state-wide primary.

Except where spirited local battles sparked the interest, the balloting was not expected to exceed 30 percent of the registration.

Write-in votes are expected to show the Pennsylvania strength of former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen; Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Sen. Robert A. Taft.

A belated campaign by Republican county leaders is expected to spur favorite-son votes for U. S. Sen. Edward Martin in the presidential preference balloting.

Voters will elect 73 delegates to the Republican national convention and 82 delegates to the Democratic convention.

Action Promised
WASHINGTON, April 27—Rep. Knutson, (R) Minn., declared today he will take "drastic action" against Southern cotton-producing states if federal taxes on margarine are repealed.

Solon Raps Marshall

'Subversives' Still Among Diplomats

WASHINGTON, April 27—Chairman John Taber, (R) N. Y., of the House appropriations committee, charged today in a blistering attack on Secretary of State George Marshall that "subversive elements" in the State department are "working against the welfare of this country."

Taber reiterated his assertion that officials responsible for screening employees for loyalty and security "are not fitted for their jobs and are not protecting the interests of this country in these critical days." He added:

"So far as I know, little or nothing has been done to improve or correct this situation, either by Secretary Marshall or by his key subordinates."

Taber, in a statement said he could reveal that "as a direct result of our persistent probing and exposures" several of the "most dangerous security risks" have been fired from the State department.

HE ADDED that among those discharged was "one key employee of the International Broadcasting division."

The New York Republican declared: "We have been unusually patient with Marshall. Since he took office, he has had ample time and opportunity to fire the chiselers and hire some competent."

Italo-Slav Tiff Fatal To Pair
ROME, April 27—An Italian soldier and a Yugoslav officer were killed today in the first major border incident along the Italo-Yugoslav frontier.

The incident occurred along the frontier line which runs across the village of Rauna di Luico, near Udine.

Yugoslav guards fired against an Italian platoon which erroneously passed over the border into Yugoslav territory while believing they still were on Italian soil.

The gunfire of the Yugoslavs, in addition to killing one Italian, wounded three others, including the officer commanding the platoon.

The Italians replied with their own gunfire, fatally injuring a Yugoslav officer.

Things To Come
WASHINGTON, April 27—The government printing office said today that it has stepped up purchases of paper for printing Selective Service forms "in anticipation of future requirements."

Ohio's Forgotten Candidates Entering Campaign's Finals

COLUMBUS, April 27—A dreary, listless campaign, in which candidates for state office nominations came perilously close to being forgotten men, entered its last week today.

Next Tuesday, those who should know predict some 1,200,000 Ohioans — 650,000 Republicans and 550,000 Democrats—will go to the polls and cast their primary ballots for the candidates of their choice.

The only sustained interest in the campaign to date has been the fight for Republican presidential delegates between Sen. Robert A. Taft, the state GOP organization's favorite son, and Former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen.

Thirty of the 53 Buckeye delegates to the GOP convention in Philadelphia June 21 will go to Taft by default—Stassen is contesting only for 23.

THOSE 23, however, are—except for one candidate for delegate-at-large—in industrial areas where Taft prestige may be low because of his espousal of the Taft-Hartley labor control law.

The candidates for state office have been shoved in the background. Even the Democratic gubernatorial battle between Former Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Ray T. Miller—both former Cleveland mayors—which was expected to furnish the main event on the primary card, has failed to stir more than casual interest.

As for the other state office candidates, there are few citizens indeed who can even tell who the candidates are.

Despite this, veteran election officials predict a vote greater than that cast in 1944, the last presidential year, when only 895,000 votes were cast in the primary.

Two years ago, in 1946, there were only 751,000 primary ballots voted, a fair average for an "off" or non-presidential year. In '40, however, when Wendell Willkie was making his bid for the Republican presidential nomination, the total soared to 1,419,000.

AND TWO YEARS before that, in the famed Democratic primary fight between then Gov. Martin L. Davey and Charles Sawyer, the total soared to an all-time high of 1,562,000.

The size of the vote may decide who is nominated for governor on the Democratic ticket. Lausche, who boasts of his independence of party bosses, would benefit by a large turnout of Democratic voters who are not

Truman Stands Pat On A-Panel Appointments

WASHINGTON, April 27—President Truman was reported determined today to stand pat on his reappointment of David E. Lilienthal to a five-year term as Atomic Commission chairman in the face of GOP threats to sidetrack the nomination.

An administration spokesman on Capitol Hill said that the President has no intention of yielding to Republican protests that the key job in the nation's vital atomic program should be filled by the White House incumbent next year.

Republican leaders reportedly want Mr. Truman to name Lilienthal for one year in the group of commissioner reappointments, which range from one to five years.

The Democratic spokesman said Mr. Truman will let the issue go to a showdown on the Senate floor.

Ohio Friendship Train Booked

DAYTON, April 27—A state version of the Friendship Train will cruise Ohio rural areas this Summer.

According to Carl J. Landes, state overseas relief director, the train will make connections of farm products and grain during the month of July.

Chairman of the train committee will be Frank Farnsworth, state director of agriculture.

The Friendship Train will be sponsored by CROP, an abbreviation of the Christian Rural Overseas Program. CROP is a national program supported by the Church World Service and the Lutheran World Relief.

Pie-Eyed Pilot

CHILLICOTHE, April 27—The highway patrol's new jurisdiction over the state's airways cost Ancile White, 29, of Greenfield, $50. He was found guilty of flying an airplane while intoxicated.

William Knudsen, Industry Genius, Dies At Age 69

DETROIT, April 27—William Knudsen, production genius of the automotive industry and wartime industrial coordinator, died today in his Palmer Woods home.

Knudsen died of a cerebral hemorrhage following an illness of 16 months. He was 69 when the end came with his wife, son and three daughters at his bedside. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday.

The Danish immigrant, born Signius Wilhelm Paul Knudsen in Copenhagen, March 25, 1879, gave up his post as president of the General Motors Corp. to serve his country.

In May, 1940, President Roosevelt called him to Washington to become director of the National Defense Advisory Commission.

IN JANUARY of 1941, Knudsen was made chairman of the Office of Production Management. In January of 1942, he took over direction of the Army's production program and was commissioned a lieutenant general.

Knudsen returned to General Motors after the war, and toured Europe, inspecting bomb-damaged GM plants in several countries.

He later retired from General Motors.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

Some legislation is snagged in Congress but the House has passed a bill prohibiting operation of gambling ships. Both parties agreed on its terms.

The feeling was that neither Republicans nor Democrats need to go to sea this year to lose their shirts.

And quick passage of the bill shows what can be done when the need is vital.

The new housing program seems to be all set. The legislation is in order and as soon as a way can be found to vote nails we can get started.

No congressional action is anticipated on the report that people are turning dogs into psychopathic cases. This is no year to worry about how dogs feel. But I heard a dog say, "the world is going to the people."

Military Offers New UMT Plan

WASHINGTON, April 27—Defense chiefs asks Congress today to approve a substitute Universal Military Training plan which would give youths instruction without enlarging the 14 billion $481 million dollar defense budget.

Under the proposal, youths 18 to 19 and one-half years of age would receive training for one year in the regular armed forces.

Sen. Gurney, (R) S. D., chairman of the Senate armed services committee, praised the plan as a "real practical program that will give us some trained reserves."

He said even UMT opponents on his committee seemed to favor the compromise plan, which he pointed out was made necessary by budget limitations.

Weather Shows Tendency Toward Normal Spring

The Ohio weather Tuesday was showing a tendency toward more normal spring conditions after the third successive day of temperatures around the 90s.

Weathermen said that scattered showers and thunderstorms would hold the mercury below the high points of the last several days. Wednesday was to be cloudy and a little cooler.

Monday's highs topped those of Saturday and Sunday, with Chesapeake taking the honors with a sweltering 92 degrees. A little rain fell to hold the mercury down to comfortable readings in some localities.

Circleville saw the mercury to go a high of 89 Monday, the hottest experienced so far in 1948. About noon Tuesday, the temperature stood near 72.

The weather bureau's five-day outlook for Ohio follows:

"Temperatures will average four to six degrees above normal during the period. Cooler Thursday, warmer Friday and Saturday, with little change Sunday. Scattered showers and thunderstorms Saturday and Sunday. Total rainfall about one-half inch."

Poll Officials To Hold Parley

A meeting of all Pickaway County's 41 precinct workers will be held at 8 p. m. Saturday in the common pleas courtroom in the courthouse. All presiding judges, judges and clerks are expected to attend.

Judges will be instructed in the changes in voting laws which became effective Jan. 2, and poll supplies will be handed out at that time.

Truman Stands Pat On A-Panel Appointments

WASHINGTON, April 27—President Truman was reported determined today to stand pat on his reappointment of David E. Lillenthal to a five-year term as Atomic Commission chairman in the face of GOP threats to side-track the nomination.

An administration spokesman on Capitol Hill said that the President has no intention of yielding to Republican protests that the key job in the nation's vital atomic program should be filled by the White House incumbent next year.

Republican leaders reportedly want Mr. Truman to name Lillenthal for one year in the group of commissioner reappointments, which range from one to five years.

The Democratic spokesman said Mr. Truman will let the issue go to a showdown on the Senate floor.

Ohio Friendship Train Booked

DAYTON, April 27—A state version of the Friendship Train will cruise Ohio rural areas this Summer.

According to Carl J. Landes, state overseas relief director, the train will make connections of farm products and grain during the month of July.

Chairman of the train committee will be Frank Farnsworth, state director of agriculture.

The Friendship Train will be sponsored by CROP, an abbreviation of the Christian Rural Overseas Program. CROP is a national program supported by the Church World Service and the Lutheran World Relief.

Ohio's Forgotten Candidates Entering Campaign's Finals

COLUMBUS, April 27—A dreary, listless campaign, in which candidates for state office nominations came perilously close to being forgotten men, entered its last week today.

Next Tuesday, those who should know predict some 1-200,000 Ohioans — 650,000 Republicans and 550,000 Democrats—will go to the polls and cast their primary ballots for the candidates of their choice.

William Knudsen, Industry Genius, Dies At Age 69

DETROIT, April 27—William Knudsen, production genius of the automotive industry and wartime industrial coordinator, died today in his Palmer Woods home.

Knudsen died of a cerebral hemorrhage following an illness of 16 months. He was 69 when the end came with his wife, son and three daughters at his bedside. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday.

The Danish immigrant, born Signus Wilhelm Paul Knudsen in Copenhagen, March 25, 1879, gave up his post as president of the General Motors Corp. to serve his country.

In May, 1940, President Roosevelt called him to Washington to become director of the National Defense Advisory Commission.

IN JANUARY of 1941, Knudsen was made chairman of the Office of Production Management. In January of 1942, he took over direction of the Army's production program and was commissioned a lieutenant general.

Knudsen returned to General Motors after the war, and toured Europe, inspecting bomb-damaged GM plants in several countries.

He later retired from General Motors. (Continued on Page Two)

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

Some legislation is snagged in Congress but the House has passed a bill prohibiting operation of gambling ships. Both parties agreed on its terms.

The feeling was that neither Republicans nor Democrats need to go to sea this year to lose their shirts.

And quick passage of the bill shows what can be done when the need is vital.

The new housing program seems to be all set. The legislation is in order and as soon as a way can be found to vote nails we can get started.

No congressional action is anticipated on the report that people are turning dogs into psychopathic cases. This is no year to worry about how dogs feel. But I heard a dog say, "the world is going to the people."

He went on:
"One could almost suspect the writers of this twaddle of a Machiavellian plot to ridicule the American people and present them to the rest of the world as morons and neurotics."

Taber said the assistant secretary of state for public affairs has full authority to fire subversive and "deadhead" personnel but has refused to do so.

Perry Students Wins County Spelling Title

Opal Gerhardt, an eighth grade student at Perry Township school, will represent the Pickaway County schools in a statewide spelling bee sponsored by a Columbus publishing house.

Miss Gerhardt defeated elementary students from 13 other county schools in eliminations held at Jackson Township school Monday.

The test consisted of both written and oral spelling eliminations. The Atlanta youngster tied in first place in the written exam with 90 percent with Henry Akers of Pickaway Township school and Betty Krimmel of Jackson Township.

Next closest grades in the test were registered by Calvin Cline of Darby with 88 percent and La Verne Glasco of New Holland with 86 percent.

OTHERS participating in the county finals were Kathryn Manson of Madison Township, Bonetta Adams of Wayne Township, James Meade of Monroe Township, Margie Dearth of Salt Creek Township, Ronald Kennard of Scioto Township, Phyllis Brigner of Muhlenberg Township, David Hatfield of South Bloomfield, Janet Seymour of Williamsport and Marjorie Allen of Washington Township.

Miss Gerhardt is to participate in the state championship bee at Columbus in the early part of May.

The other Pickaway County representative to the bee will be Evelyn Oliver, seventh grade student at Corwin street school in Circleville, who was proclaimed the city champ.

Darbyville War Hero's Funeral Set For Friday

Another of Pickaway County's fallen heroes of World War II is to be buried Friday afternoon.

He is Pfc. Carrie Willard Smith, 27, who was killed in action in Normandy July 10, 1944.

A son of Carrie Ross Smith and Nancy Belle Woodgard Smith of Darbyville, Private Smith was born in Ross County Jan. 23, 1917.

The body is scheduled to arrive in Circleville Wednesday and will be taken to Darbyville for services under supervision of the Defenbaugh funeral home.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in Brown Chapel Methodist church with the Rev. I. C. Wright officiating. The Veterans of Foreign Wars will provide military rites.

In addition to the parents, Private Smith is survived by two brothers, William of Darbyville and Allen of Lancaster; and three sisters, Mrs. Edith Daniels of Circleville, Mary of Kenton and Mrs. Katherine Morgan of Darbyville.

Divorce Sought From Lost Mate

Suit to end a five-year-old marriage has been filed in Pickaway county common pleas court by Elizabeth M. Cunagin, mother of a 13-year-old son, against her husband, Leonard Cunagin on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

In her petition for divorce, she claims they were married May 2, 1943, at Jeffersonville and that no children were born of their marriage.

It is alleged that Cunagin left home in July of 1946 to find work in Colorado. Since that time she has had only one letter from him and he has totally failed to support her, Mrs. Cunagin's petition claims.

She is asking for alimony and to be restored to her former name of Elizabeth M. Allen.

Burglars Take Along Aspirin

Thieves at the Town House in Kingston bolstered for a headache over the weekend with half a dozen packages of aspirin after refreshing themselves with a quantity of beer and ice cream.

The vacation-bound burglars probably were looking forward to an extended trip in the Northwest, or so Ross County Deputy Sheriff Fred Heinzelman believed, when reporting other looted articles.

Also taken, he said were two revolvers, a shotgun, four boxes of shells, a camera, an electric roach and fly gun, rod and reel, 20 cartons of cigarettes, four fountain pens, 20 cans of beer, razor blades and 50 pennies.

Even the wisest political prognosticators are refraining from predicting who will win that race. The outcome could rest on the result in their own Cuyahoga County. Even there, where both are known, both claim to have victory in the bag.

As to the Taft-Stassen fight, that also seems a tossup, although the senator claims that the Stassen boom has reached its peak and now is on the decline.

Generally, it seems to be the opinion that if Stassen captures 10 or more of the 23 delegates he seeks, it will be a Stassen victory. If he gets nine or less, Taft could well brag that he squeaked the Stassen invasion with minimum losses.

$5,800 Damage Action Filed

Damage and injury claims totalling $5,800 are on file in Pickaway County common pleas court against Ralph E. Crook of Lancaster resulting from a truck-auto collision last September on U. S. Route 22, east of Circleville.

Raymond C. Wilson of Washington C. H. is asking $5,250 for personal injuries and loss of work suffered while he was driving the truck which was reportedly rammed by Crook's car.

A $630 damage claim was lodged by Harold Gordon of Washington C. H., owner of the truck. He is asking $350 for damages and $280 as payment for loss of his truck at work.

Wilson's claim is based on a head injury, shock, and nervous disorders causing him to lose work. Both plaintiffs alleged negligence on the part of Crook's driving.

Fairway League On First Tour

The first session of the Fairway Auto League, combined league of the K of P members of Amanda, Stoutsville, Ashville, Lancaster and Circleville, was held Monday night in the Pythian Castle in Circleville.

The purpose of the league is to have members of other lodges attend one of the five K of P lodge meetings once a month.

At the meeting Monday, knight rank was conferred on Chester Starkey, who last week was given esquire rank.

Next meeting of the auto league is to be held in Stoutsville.

Pre-Divorce Settlement OK'd By Court Here

A pre-divorce action settlement was recognized by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway County common pleas court in granting Margaret Z. Starkey a divorce from Gilbert E. Starkey, accused of gross neglect of duty.

Prior to filing the petition for divorce, the childless couple entered a contract settling all property rights including alimony.

In it, Starkey agreed to pay the plaintiff $10,000 for her undivided interest in two tracts of land in Circleville including a dry cleaning business.

The agreement awards her all household furniture while he was given ownership to a 1947 Buick automobile. Starkey will pay the court costs and $100 of the attorney's fee.

DISSOLUTION of a 10-year-old marriage was approved by Judge Radcliff in granting Dorothy Rinehart a divorce from Lawrence Rinehart on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

Her petition claimed they were married March 14, 1938 in Greenup, Ky., and have one minor child, which was placed in the mother's custody by the court's decision. Rinehart was ordered to pay $5 per week toward the support of the minor.

$5,200 Claim Awarded In Money Action

In an action to recover money filed in Pickaway County common pleas court by Sidner W. Cummins against Walter R. and Gladys T. Cummins, the court ruled that Walter Cummins be assessed $5,200 with interest from March 11, 1948.

In the first cause of action, the plaintiff alleged that he loaned the defendants $5,000 which they promised to pay at three percent interest per annum.

To this, the defendant Cummins filed an answer and general denial stating that on March 4, 1946, Sidner Cummins conveyed to Gladys Cummins a farm which was subject to a lease which had two years to run.

In her petition, she claims she paid $1,500 in rent to the plaintiff and that she is entitled to the rent for which he "refuses to account to."

The court found that the sum was loaned to Walter and not Gladys, thus absolving her of the debt, and further ruled in favor of the plaintiff in Gladys' action for accounting on the rent.

Chief Wise had estimated that Old Bessie, purchased at a cost of $9,500 about 34 years ago, probably "will not bring more than $75 or $100 as junk."

Child Study Club, whose budget might be strained even at $75 or $100, is hoping that top city officials will agree with the club and the park board on the subject and will take seriously one sentence in the "for sale" billing—that the city "reserves the right to reject any and all bids"—all, that is, except the one entered by the club.

Laurelville Man Escapes Unhurt

Charles Grimshaw, 24, of Laurelville escaped injury Monday when he drove his car into the side of a tractor-trailer driven by Pearl Arledge, 33, of Chillicothe Route 2, on Route 35, west of Chillicothe.

The Laurelville man was attempting to pass the trailer when he was forced to use his brakes to prevent running into a narrow bridge. In doing so, he rammed the side of the truck, the state highway patrol reported.

Alimony Granted In Divorce Case

Helen Louise Styers has been granted temporary alimony in Pickaway County common pleas court from her husband, Lawrence Styers, whom she is suing for divorce.

The court ordered Styers to make an initial payment of $10 on April 17, and beginning last Saturday he was further ordered to pay her $20 per week. The defendant also must pay $75 to be applied on her legal expenses for the divorce action.

He went on:

"One could almost suspect the writers of this twaddle of a Machiavellian plot to ridicule the American people and present them to the rest of the world as morons and neurotics."

Taber said the assistant secretary of state for public affairs has full authority to fire subversive and "deadhead" personnel but has refused to do so.

Perry Students Wins County Spelling Title

Opal Gerhardt, an eighth grade student at Perry Township school, will represent the Pickaway County schools in a statewide spelling bee sponsored by a Columbus publishing house.

Miss Gerhardt defeated elementary students from 13 other county schools in eliminations held at Jackson Township school Monday.

The test consisted of both written and oral spelling eliminations, the Atlanta youngster tied in first place in the written exam with 90 percent with Henry Akers of Pickaway Township school and Betty Krimmel of Jackson Township.

Next closest grades in the test were registered by Calvin Cline of Darby with 88 percent and La Verne Glasco of New Holland with 86 percent.

OTHERS participating in the county finals were Kathryn Manson of Madison Township, Bonetta Adams of Wayne Township, James Meade of Monroe Township, Margie Dearth of Salter Creek Township, Ronald Kennard of Scioto Township, Phyllis Brigner of Muhlenberg Township, David Hatfield of South Bloomfield, Janet Seymour of Williamsport and Marjorie Allen of Washington Township.

Miss Gerhardt is to participate in the state championship bee at Columbus in the early part of May.

The other Pickaway County representative to the bee will be Evelyn Oliver, seventh grade student at Corwin street school in Circleville, who was proclaimed the city champ.

Divorce Sought From Lost Mate

Suit to end a five-year-old marriage has been filed in Pickaway county common pleas court by Elizabeth M. Cunagin, mother of a 13-year-old son, against her husband, Leonard Cunagin on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

In her petition for divorce, she claims they were married May 2, 1943, at Jeffersonville and that no children were born of their marriage.

It is alleged that Cunagin left home in July of 1946 to find work in Colorado. Since that time she has had only one letter from him and he has totally failed to support her, Mrs. Cunagin's petition claims.

She is asking for alimony and to be restored to her former name of Elizabeth M. Allen.

Cleric Awaits X-Ray Report

Rev. Carl Wilson, pastor of Circleville First Evangelical United Brethren church, is in White Cross hospital, Columbus, following a sudden illness Saturday evening.

Wilson was to have x-rays taken Tuesday to determine the cause of intense pain in his side.

Also taken, he said were two revolvers, a shotgun, four boxes of shells, a camera, an electric roach and fly gun, rod and reel, 20 cartons of cigarettes, four fountain pens, 20 cans of beer, razor blades and 50 pennies.

DEATHS and Funerals

FORREST ALEXANDER

Short funeral services will be conducted about noon Wednesday in Dresbach Evangelical United Brethren church for the Forrest Marvin Alexander, 38, of Columbus, who drowned Saturday while fishing in Buckeye Lake. Burial will be in the Dresbach cemetery near Circleville.

Funeral services will be 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Grimes and Davidson funeral home, Columbus.

CHARLES KAIN

The Rev. J. H. Sudlow will officiate for funeral services at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday for the late Charles Kain, 88, of South Court street, who died Monday in Berger hospital.

Services will take place in the C. E. Hill funeral home in Williamsport with interment in Spring Lawn cemetery.

Darbyville War Hero's Funeral Set For Friday

Another of Pickaway County's fallen heroes of World War II is to be buried Friday afternoon.

He is Pfc. Carrie Willard Smith, 27, who was killed in action in Normandy July 10, 1944.

A son of Carrie Ross Smith and Nancy Belle Woodgard Smith of Darbyville, Private Smith was born in Ross County Jan. 23, 1917.

The body is scheduled to arrive in Circleville Wednesday and will be taken to Darbyville for services under supervision of the Defenbaugh funeral home.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in Brown Chapel Methodist church with the Rev. I. C. Wright officiating. The Veterans of Foreign Wars will provide military rites.

In addition to the parents, Private Smith is survived by two brothers, William of Darbyville and Allen of Lancaster; and three sisters, Mrs. Edith Daniels of Circleville, Mary of Kenton and Mrs. Katherine Morgan of Darbyville.

Burglars Take Along Aspirin

Thieves at the Town House in Kingston bolstered for a headache over the weekend with half a dozen packages of aspirin after refreshing themselves with a quantity of beer and ice cream.

The vacation-bound burglars probably were looking forward to an extended trip in the Northwest, or so Ross County Deputy Sheriff Fred Heinzelman believed, when reporting other looted articles.

controlled by county organizations.

On the other hand, a small vote, brought out by the organizations backing Miller and labor groups, which also are backing Miller, probably would react to the latter's advantage.

Even the wisest political prognosticators are refraining from predicting who will win that race. The outcome could rest on the result in their own Cuyahoga County. Even there, where both are known, both claim to have victory in the bag.

As to the Taft-Stassen fight, that also seems a toss-up, although the senator claims that the Stassen boom has reached its peak and now is on the decline.

Generally, it seems to be the opinion that if Stassen captures 10 or more of the 23 delegates he seeks, it will be a Stassen victory. If he gets nine or less, Taft could well brag that he squelched the Stassen invasion with minimum losses.

down are possible. The most likely is legislation to extend terms of all the five commission members 11 months so that they expire July 1, 1949, instead of next Aug. 1.

A less likely, but still possible, GOP move might be to confirm commission members renominated for one, two and three year terms, but withhold action on Lilienthal and the four-year appointment for Sumner T. Pike.

An influential GOP Senate leader said privately that the possibility of confirming Lilienthal for the five-year term is not being considered.

Fairway League On First Tour

The first session of the Fairway Auto League, combined league of the K of P members of Amanda, Stoutsville, Ashville, Lancaster and Circleville, was held Monday night in the Pythian Castle in Circleville.

The purpose of the league is to have members of other lodges attend one of the five K of P lodge meetings once a month.

At the meeting Monday, Knight rank was conferred on Chester Starkey, who last week was given esquire rank.

Next meeting of the auto league is to be held in Stoutsville.

Pre-Divorce Settlement OK'd By Court Here

A pre-divorce action settlement was recognized by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway County common pleas court in granting Margaret Z. Starkey a divorce from Gilbert E. Starkey, accused of gross neglect of duty.

Prior to filing the petition for divorce, the childless couple entered a contract settling all property rights including alimony.

In it, Starkey agreed to pay the plaintiff $10,000 for her undivided interest in two tracts of land in Circleville including a dry cleaning business.

The agreement awards her all household furniture while he was given ownership to a 1947 Buick automobile. Starkey will pay the court costs and $100 of the attorney's fee.

DISSOLUTION of a 10-year-old marriage was approved by Judge Radcliff in granting Dorothy Rinehart a divorce from Lawrence Rinehart on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

Her petition claimed they were married March 14, 1938 in Greenup, Ky., and have one minor child, which was placed in the mother's custody by the court's decision. Rinehart was ordered to pay $5 per week toward the support of the minor.

$5,800 Damage Action Filed

Damage and injury claims totalling $5,800 are on file in Pickaway County common pleas court against Ralph E. Crook of Lancaster resulting from a truck-auto collision last September on U. S. Route 22, east of Circleville.

Raymond C. Wilson of Washington C. H. is asking $5,250 for personal injuries and loss of work suffered while he was driving the truck which was reportedly rammed by Crook's car.

A $630 damage claim was lodged by Harold Gordon of Washington C. H., owner of the truck. He is asking $350 for damages and $280 as payment for loss of his truck at work.

Wilson's claim is based on a head injury, shock, and nervous disorders causing him to lose work. Both plaintiffs alleged negligence on the part of Crook's driving.

Demos To Meet

BILLIONS MAY BE LOST?

Young Pole Says Aid Plan Needs U.S. Management

"Giving Europe billions of dollars alone will be a total waste," Circleville Kiwanis Club was told at its dinner meeting at Pickaway Country Club Monday evening.

The speaker was K. B. Czarnecki, native of Poland and at present a student of chemical engineering at Ohio State university.

Czarnecki declared that America's Marshall Plan and its billions of dollars will be lost unless American management goes along to put those billions to work.

The speaker, who fled Poland after that nation was overrun in World War II, said that American management was the last of four points to end future wars and to bring Europe to her feet. He listed his four points:

- (1) Have a united states of Europe which is strong enough to be friendly with Russia;
- (2) Make this combine use its own resources to feed itself;
- (3) Provide it with sufficient money to reorganize its own industries; and
- (4) Provide management to tell those united states how to use that money.

Czarnecki declared that unless such a system is adopted, wars will continue in Europe and continue to suck in American industry, money and manpower.

The basic ill of Europe today is that its people lack moral principles, the speaker declared. He added that European wars have not been the fault of Germany or Russia alone, but that principles of behavior are different among the various peoples.

He declared that until these principles are raised history will keep repeating itself: "Every 50 miles a border, every 20 years a war."

He explained that history has shown how "a country which grows stronger, richer and smarter has grabbed half a yard of new territory, then half a mile and then half a country, thus starting another war."

It was this attitude that caused World War II, he declared. He traced the early history of the recent conflict—how Germany and Poland had been friendly, how Germany and Russia had signed a secret agreement and how Russia had attacked Poland and has since placed Communist leaders in Poland to operate the government.

Czarnecki stated that "Russia neither needs nor wants more territory or more people, but as long as a capitalistic nation remains, she will feel insecure. For that reason she is expanding into the countries surrounding her, placing Communist governments in charge."

"RUSSIA demonstrated this in Czechoslovakia and Greece probably will be next."

He declared that a united states of Europe could succeed in the face of Russia since "Russia is basically an Asiatic nation and has all the territory and people she wants and needs."

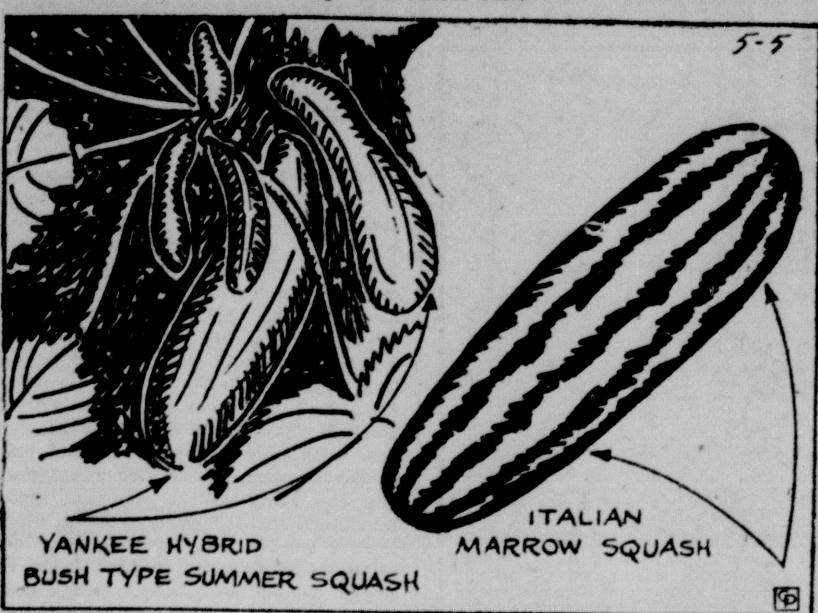

Czarnecki stressed that "to improve the world, we must first improve the man, teach him better principles of behavior, develop international policies which must be enforced by force and provide punishment for even the smallest offender."

The young Pole, who will be a student at Ohio State another year, will leave America for a special six-month training stint in England prior to a special assignment in chemical engineering in South Africa.

Prior to Czarnecki's address, Ernie Hill was presented a special Kiwanis Club award honoring his 18 years of attendance without an absence.

Start Early Summer Squash Indoors

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed to Central Press Association

TO SECURE an extra early crop of early summer squash start the seeds indoors in paper cups early in May.

Plant four seeds in each cup, then cover them with one-half inch of soil. When the plants make their appearance pull out two of them leaving the strongest pair.

In early June, when all danger of frost is past, set the seedling plants outdoors. Space the bush type of squash three feet apart in a row, the vine types in hills six feet apart, three plants to a hill.

Yankee Hybrid and Early Prolific are two of the most popular summer straightneck, bush varieties. The former is illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. It produces more early squash than other varieties and if the fruits are kept picked the plants will continue to produce for many weeks. Two or three hills in the Freedom garden will supply the average family.

Early Prolific is a 55-day squash of the dwarf, bush type. Although its fruits are fairly small, they are dependably early. Many gardeners enjoy the vegetable marrows. They are an interesting but different type of squash. In past years they were not grown as much in this country as in Europe, where they are rated along with peas and asparagus for their delicious flavor.

The Cocozelle, an Italian vegetable marrow, is illustrated. It is a 65-day bush variety which produces fruits about two feet in length with dark green stripes.

Inmate-Slayer To Be Grilled

COLUMBUS, April 27—Ohio Penitentiary Inmate John Thomas, charged with the knife-slaying of two guards April 19, was scheduled for another grilling today.

Assistant Franklin County Prosecutor T. Vincent Martin questioned the 34-year-old prisoner from Montgomery County yesterday along with Paul Skarpusis, 25, Canton, another accused prisoner.

Skarpusis is charged with killing his cellmate, Andy Nahalka, 27 of Pike County, Saturday with a hand-made knife.

Council OKs State Fair Site

COLUMBUS, April 27—The Columbus city council has approved a site northeast of the Ohio State university farms for a new state fair site by a vote of five to two.

Council acted last night in defeating a resolution sponsored by Council President Joseph R. Jones urging another location for the proposed new fairgrounds.

Councilman Walter R. Snyder charged the Jones resolution would usurp the prerogative of the state fair relocation commission.

Magazine Quote Irking Flynn

HOLLYWOOD, April 27—Screen Star Errol Flynn today filed a $300,000 damage suit against a movie magazine for quoting his description of a "screen kiss" with Actress Olivia De Havilland without his authorization.

Flynn charged that the May issue of Movie Stars Parade wrongfully used an article entitled "My First Screen Kiss, by Errol Flynn." The debonaire actor alleged he did not write nor authorize the article.

He asserted that the story was "untrue and harmful to his professional standing."

Attached to the complaint was a copy of the article, containing the following excerpt:

"I had looked over the script before I met Olivia De Havilland so I knew there was a love scene of some intensity in the picture. After I had met Olivia, I looked forward to the tender passages with the same placid approval that a wolf lavishes on a herd of Spring lambs. Yee-ow!"

Woman Advanced To Sergeancy

COLUMBUS, April 27—Hardy police patrolmen who called on the Columbus juvenile and social bureau winced today as they spoke to "Sergeant Brown."

The sergeant was Mrs. Edna Brown, the first woman ever to hold that rank in the department.

She was appointed Monday as part of the sweeping departmental changes made necessary by recent civil service examinations.

Police Chief Charles M. Berry said a police captain and seven lieutenants also were appointed on the basis of the exam grades. He said more changes will be made in the lower ranks Sunday.

Looked at and looked up to

This is the one, of course, that you spot at a glance.

This is the one that sends a string of facts racing through your mind — if you know automobiles — the instant you see the name ROADMASTER spelled out on its fender.

Up to one hundred and fifty Fireball horsepower. Eighteen feet big — and spring-coil lively.

Gorgeously finished. Coil-spring cradled on all four wheels. Shod with oversize tires that take extra low pressures for added comfort.

Convenient too — with push-button controls not only for the top, but for door windows and the front-seat adjustment as well.

This, too, is the only passenger car in this country where the power plant does what gears used to do.

Here's the one place you'll find Dynaflo Drive,* in which liquid replaces not only the clutch and manually operated low, second and high, but mechanical gear-changers as well.

In short — here's liquid ease and smoothness in delightful new degree, through a sort of "magic muscle" that lets you forget about gear-changing practically entirely.

No wonder, then, this car is looked up to.

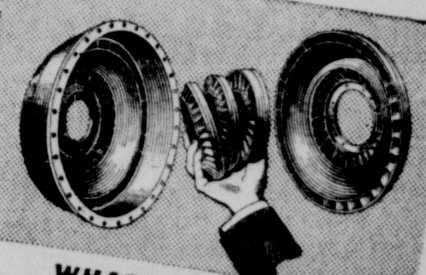

Looked up to for impressive appearance — looked up to for superlative ability.

Looked up to for what's newest in engineering advances.

If your standards call for a real performer — and for quality a cut above the ordinarily good — specify ROADMASTER when you see your dealer (with or without a car to trade) about getting an order in.

BUICK alone has all these features

- * DYNAFLO DRIVE (Optional, Roadmaster Series)
- * TAPER-THRU STYLING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE * SAFETY-RIDE RIMS
- * HI-POISED FIREBALL POWER
- * ROAD-RITE BALANCE * RIGID TORQUE-TUBE
- * QUADRUFLUX COIL SPRING
- * SOUND-SORBER TOP LINING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * DUOMATIC SPARK ADVANCE * FLEX-FIT OIL RINGS
- * TEN SMART MODELS * BODY BY FISHER

WHAT'S DIFFERENT ABOUT DYNAFLO DRIVE?

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) by (in hand) which produces a torque-booster action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you direction. *Optional or extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Start Early Summer Squash Indoors

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed to Central Press Association

TO SECURE an extra early crop of early summer squash start the seeds indoors in paper cups early in May.

Plant four seeds in each cup, then cover them with one-half inch of soil. When the plants make their appearance pull out two of them leaving the strongest pair.

In early June, when all danger of frost is past, set the seedling plants outdoors. Space the bush type of squash three feet apart in a row, the vine types in hills six feet apart, three plants to a hill.

Yankee Hybrid and Early Prolific are two of the most popular summer straightneck, bush varieties. The former is illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. It produces more early squash than other varieties and if the fruits are kept picked the plants will continue to produce for many weeks. Two or three hills in the Freedom garden will supply the average family.

Early Prolific is a 55-day squash of the dwarf, bush type. Although its fruits are fairly small, they are dependably early.

Many gardeners enjoy the vegetable marrows. They are an interesting but different type of squash. In past years they were not grown as much in this country as in Europe, where they are rated along with peas and asparagus for their delicious flavor. The Cocozelle, an Italian vegetable marrow, is illustrated. It is a 65-day bush variety which produces fruits about two feet in length with dark green stripes.

Inmate-Slayer To Be Grilled

COLUMBUS, April 27—Ohio Penitentiary Inmate John Thomas, charged with the knife-slashing of two guards April 19, was scheduled for another grilling today.

Assistant Franklin County Prosecutor T. Vincent Martin questioned the 34-year-old prisoner from Montgomery County yesterday along with Paul Skarpusis, 25, Canton, another accused prisoner.

Skarpusis is charged with killing his cellmate, Andy Nahalka, 27 of Pike County, Saturday with a hand-made knife.

Council OKs State Fair Site

COLUMBUS, April 27—The Columbus city council has approved a site northeast of the Ohio State university farms for a new state fair site by a vote of five to two.

Council acted last night in defeating a resolution sponsored by Council President Joseph R. Jones urging another location for the proposed new fairgrounds.

Councilman Walter R. Snyder charged the Jones resolution would usurp the prerogative of the state fair relocation commission.

Magazine Quote Irking Flynn

HOLLYWOOD, April 27—Screen Star Errol Flynn today filed a $300,000 damage suit against a movie magazine for quoting his description of a "screen kiss" with Actress Olivia De Havilland without his authorization.

Flynn charged that the May issue of Movie Stars Parade wrongfully used an article entitled "My First Screen Kiss, by Errol Flynn." The debonaire actor alleged he did not write nor authorize the article.

He asserted that the story was "untrue and harmful to his professional standing."

Attached to the complaint was a copy of the article, containing the following excerpt:

"I had looked over the script before I met Olivia De Havilland so I knew there was a love scene of some intensity in the picture. After I had met Olivia, I looked forward to the tender passages with the same placid approval that a wolf lavishes on a herd of Spring lambs. Yee-ow!"

Woman Advanced To Sergeancy

COLUMBUS, April 27—Hardy police patrolmen who called on the Columbus juvenile and social bureau winced today as they spoke to "Sergeant Brown."

The sergeant was Mrs. Edna Brown, the first woman ever to hold that rank in the department.

She was appointed Monday as part of the sweeping departmental changes made necessary by recent civil service examinations.

Police Chief Charles M. Berry said a police captain and seven lieutenants also were appointed on the basis of the exam grades. He said more changes will be made in the lower ranks Sunday.

Looked at and looked up to

This is the one, of course, that you spot at a glance.

This is the one that sends a string of facts racing through your mind — if you know automobiles — the instant you see the name ROADMASTER spelled out on its fender.

Up to one hundred and fifty Fireball horsepower. Eighteen feet big — and spring-coil lively.

Gorgeously finished. Coil-spring cradled on all four wheels. Shod with oversize tires that take extra low pressures for added comfort.

Convenient too — with push-button controls not only for the top, but for door windows and the front-seat adjustment as well.

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, Mutual Network, Mondays and Fridays

HELP AMERICA PRODUCE FOR PEACE—TURN IN YOUR SCRAP IRON AND STEEL

This, too, is the only passenger car in this country where the power plant does what gears used to do.

Here's the one place you'll find Dynaflo Drive,* in which liquid replaces not only the clutch and manually operated low, second and high, but mechanical gear-changers as well.

In short — here's liquid ease and smoothness in delightful new degree, through a sort of "magic muscle" that lets you forget about gear-changing practically entirely.

No wonder, then, this car is looked up to.

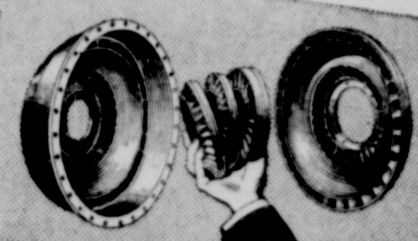

Looked up to for impressive appearance — looked up to for superlative ability.

Looked up to for what's newest in engineering advances.

If your standards call for a real performer — and for quality a cut above the ordinary good — specify ROADMASTER when you see your dealer (with or without a car to trade) about getting an order in.

WHAT'S DIFFERENT ABOUT DYNAFLO DRIVE??

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) in an ingenious new supercharging assembly action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you direction.

NEW JOB FOR HARRIMAN
W. AVERELL Harriman has abundant a n t background for his new job, that of roving ambassador to Europe in connection with the European Recovery Program. He should be well fitted to assist in working out both diplomatic and economic questions which are bound to arise in great numbers in European capitals.
Presumably an important part of his job also will be to keep the administration informed as to European planning for Marshall Plan aid and use of it as it comes through. The government at Washington needs to know, from a competent firsthand observer, what is going on in government and business circles in Europe as American billions stream across the seas.
The roving ambassador can help to assess the effectiveness of the program.
It is indicated that while the position of Mr. Harriman is secondary to that of Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the program, yet he will have considerable freedom of movement with his rank as ambassador-at-large. The position is one of great potential value in our relations with Europe.
Perhaps the most pressing work Mr.
Harriman will be called upon to do as he moves about Europe will be to help Marshall Plan dollars become, as they are intended to be, salemen for the philosophy of the western world.

GOVERNMENT BY STRIKE
LET US be clear about the Lewis coal strike business. The right to strike is precious, considered by most Americans among their "unalienable rights." They believe it an essential part of the individual's right to liberty.
It is not this right for an individual to decide whether or not he will work under certain circumstances which is now called into question by his fellow-citizens. It is the use of this right for phoney purposes to which Americans justifiably object.
Above all it is the turning of this just right into a wholly unjust effort at government by strike which is under contention.
John L. Lewis as a union leader trying honestly and fairly to improve the lot of the members of his union might be a figure to respect. But John L. Lewis trying to flout the laws of his nation, to bring them into disrepute and himself into a position of unjustifiable power, is in very deep disdain by his fellow Americans.
No one man, no one union or other group is greater than the United States of America. John L. Lewis and some other people will have to learn that some time.
Americans sincerely hope the time is now.

Just as we were going to make a new holler about taxes, we read in a London

Up to a morning of high temperature, mid-summer in April. All over the county great farming activity. Tractors going day and night on late plowing. Peas already in the ground and some corn. Wheat never looked better from the highway. Too thick, if anything. And what a cherry crop in the making. Trees loaded heavier than for years. And that is saying something. Maybe a big year is ahead. Well, we can use it.
Chatted with Loring Hoffman and Pop Betz just back from a fishing trip to Cedar Hill camp on Dale Hollow lake in Tennessee. Both have been Canadian fishermen for years and both said the same thing about Dale Hollow: "Saw more bass, the majority slungers, than in all the years that have gone past." Must be quite a spot. Looks as though the early bass season will close here before the streams are in any condition to fish. Six weeks protection for bass before the season opens.
Jim Arledge told me of a whip-poor-will calling nightly in a tree near his house. Didn't know the birds came into this territory. They always keep me awake for a couple of nights when I go into Canada. Only thing I can say for their "song" is that it is repetitious. And, consequently, very tiring.

Down in the West end to see Linc Mader's boat I have heard so much about, but he was absent and the viewing postponed. Made it myself and friends say it is like an exceptionally fine factory job. Must be good.
Exchanged greetings with Herschel, the implement dealer, finding him in his usual good humor and luck as usual. Someday I will match that fellow and defeat him. Then a half holiday in celebration.
Met up with Ed Sensenbrenner for the first time since he was hurriedly carted off to the hospital many weeks ago and frightened us with reports of a dying condition. Thin and weak, but moving around outside and still the same old Ed. Hope he does not return to his endless day routine at the jewelry store. He'll do a lot better adding to the 2,500 miles on that new car.

Fred Clark told me of the need of more eye glasses to be handed out gratis to folk who can not afford to buy new ones. A service he has been providing for many years. Needy persons call on Fred and try on glasses until they find a pair suiting their needs. Supply mighty low right now.
Drank early coffee with Herb Fry and George Fishpaw. Herb picking up strength against the late afternoon when he expected to plant 200 pounds of seed potatoes. Ventured the opinion that the planting should be heavier, but he opined he would have enough for the Winter and many to sell. Didn't tell him, but that planting, if it were mine, would just about produce a skimpy potato salad.
Home in mid-afternoon to continue pampering a cold that has had me barking like an angry bulldog for the last ten days. Early to bed and late to sleep.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days
If even a part of Maurice M. Milligan's indictment of the President is true, Harry Truman has no moral right to be in the White House. He should resign. For while the former United States district attorney for the western district of Missouri absolves Mr. Truman from personal complicity in the conspiracy to steal elections in Kansas City, he nonetheless puts him on the scene of the crime and produces in detail the coverup. If Milligan is in error, Truman ought to establish the error, if not for his own sake, surely for the good name of the country.
All this appears in a book which was originally called "Missouri Waltz" but which was finally given the title: "The Inside Story of the Pendergast Machine by the Man Who Smashed It." I received a telegram from Scribner's saying: "Do not in any way use title 'Missouri Waltz' which was on first editions." This telegram ended "cooperation appreciated." As the long title is sufficient to kill any book, it is altogether clear that Scribner's were intimidated. The suggestion is that somebody once put that title to music and so it's exclusive like "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes."

Be that as it may, the book is terrific, not because it is the story of the Pendergast Gang by the man who thought that he has smashed it, but because it tells the story of how the President of the United States resurrected it.
Frankly, I am little interested in Pendergast. The shame of our cities is the long tale of the association of politicians with crooked contractors, gamblers, prostitutes, brothel keepers, and murderers. Always a politician stands in the middle, collecting from the criminals, paying off the officials. The American people have tolerated this indecency since Aaron Burr organized Tammany Hall. Both parties have produced their share of swinish beasts who have wrecked their municipalities for their own enrichment. Pendergast may have been one of the worst or he may only have run true to form. He is dead and is probably settling his score where he cannot steal votes.

As long as Milligan deals with that, it is old shoe. But when he puts the President of the United States into this business, it becomes a matter of public concern. Milligan, being a lawyer, protects himself with one sentence:

"At no time did the finger of suspicion ever point in the direction of Senator Truman."

But that means nothing except in a court of law. In fact, Milligan himself questions the correctness of that statement by saying that subsequent events "—make me wonder whether I was right in issuing a clean bill of health." Actually, he accuses Truman of reviving the Pendergast machine of which he had been a part and, according to Milligan, still is a dues-paying, clubhouse part. According to Milligan, Pendergast's nephew, James, recommended Truman to the Boss and Truman has been everlastingly grateful, for James is now back in the saddle with the President's blessing.

Once Congress can disclose to the American people the records of public servants, it will be possible to disclose the records of the liars, spies and traitors who were working for foreign countries (foe or friend) while this nation was at war. Is Harry Truman President of the United States or just a good fellow looking after his friends? Milligan raises the question; somebody must answer it.

IS IT A BLACKWOOD?
NO misunderstanding between bidding partners can do more harm than that concerning the meaning of a 4-No Trump call. If the circumstances are such that the bidder thinks he is using the Blackwood convention when his partner considers it a natural bid—or if he means to be making a natural strength-showing call and his partner thinks it is a Blackwood—only the most extreme luck can save the pair from disaster. It is therefore well for partners to know the convention thoroughly, including its provisions as to when such a call is conventional, or at least to have the same ideas between them as to when they consider it to be such.

"Twas a sad story, mates. After West scored his heart A. South had enough winners to take fifteen tricks, had there been that many to be played. But they earned his side not a solitary point, whereas accurate bidding would have brought his side a nice score for the easiest small slam you ever saw.
All the trouble was caused by South's believing his 4-No Trumps constituted a Blackwood ace-asking bid, and that North's answer of 5-No Trumps indicated possession of all four aces. He told North so, and tried to fix the blame on the latter for his own call of the grand slam, which would have been easy if North had all of those aces.
"My 5-No Trumps was not meant as an answer to the Blackwood at all," said North. "We had not previously shown a suit fit or guaranteed one by a jump in some suit. So your 4-No Trumps sounded to me just a bit stronger than 3-No Trumps would. I thought you wanted to make a mild slam invitation, which I was unable to accept outright. When I bid just 5-No Trumps instead of small slam, I meant to put it up to you whether to pass or bid the small slam."
So when is a Blackwood not a Blackwood? Good idea for you and your partner to know.

DIET AND HEALTH
If Appendicitis Is Suspected

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
Despite the signal advances made in the treatment of appendicitis, this disease still kills many every year, a needless loss of life because when the doctor is given an opportunity to see a patient with appendicitis early, the chances for complete recovery are good.
For example, in more than 1400 operations for acute, simple appendicitis, only two patients succumbed. On the other hand, the death rate for ruptured appendix today is one out of 14, and 20 years ago it was higher still—one out of five.
Now the chief factor in bringing about ruptured appendix is delay in seeking treatment, and the above figures show how costly such delay can be.
Even so, fewer people die today from ruptured appendix than 20 years ago but this saving of lives is not due to any lessening of the tendency to put off going to the doctor, but rather to four great improvements in treatment. These are the giving of fluids and salts, the lessening of the pressure within the stomach and the intestines by the use of some special suction apparatus, the recognition and proper treatment of complications, and the use of penicillin and the sulfonamide drugs to combat infections.
Another Measure
There is still another measure which may be life-saving. This is the use of substances, such as dicoumarol which slows down the clotting of the blood. In patients who are forced to stay in bed because of ruptured appendix, a blood clot may develop in one of the veins of the legs. This may become loose and be carried along by the blood stream to a lung, resulting in what is known as pulmonary embolism. Most often, the patients who develop a pulmonary embolism are over fifty years of age. Hence, in such cases, the action of dicoumarol is especially valuable in preventing clot formation. Some surgeons may choose to tie a vein in the leg, to prevent a clot already formed from reaching the lung.
While all of these things have resulted in a lessened death rate from appendicitis, there is one aspect in which no improvement has occurred, according to many studies. As I said earlier, this is the delay on the part of the public in going to the doctor. In other words the number of cases of ruptured appendix continues about the same, although there has been great improvement in caring for patients with this condition.
Abdominal Pain
The symptoms of appendicitis consist of such things as pain in the right lower part of the abdomen, sometimes with sickness to the stomach and vomiting, slight fever, and an increase in the number of white cells in the blood. Tenderness over the appendix and some stiffness or rigidity of the muscles are also present.
When several of these symptoms occur, there is need to call the doctor at once. Failure to do so may carry with it the heavy penalty of death.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
H. M. What causes a lack of acid in the stomach?
A. The exact cause for this condition cannot be determined in many instances. It may accompany severe anemia, a lack of coloring matter in the blood. Cancer of the stomach may also be responsible for this condition.
The most important part of the treatment is to determine if the lack of acid is due to some recognizable condition, and to correct it, if possible. Next, proper diet and the taking of a weak acid solution, prescribed by the physician, are of help.

SYNOPSIS
Anne Forester had become engaged to Lieutenant Commander Alec Doremus following a whirlwind courtship in Hawaii over a year ago. Recently he had cabled her from the Far East to be ready to marry him soon at Stone House, his family's estate in Jersey. Julia, his mother, was overjoyed when Anne accepted her invitation to stay with them. Her departure from New York was a blow to cynical Donald Ogden, who had long been in love with her. Stone House had been in the Doremus family for generations and the beauty of its scene, of its farmlands thrilled Anne as John, Alec's serious-minded older brother, explained all it meant to him. Besides John, his wife, Helen and Judy, their small daughter, the household consisted of Alec's parents, Julia and Henry Doremus; Henry's mother, Mrs. Doremus; and Julia's mother, Madame Kingsley. It was soon evident to Anne that Helen's only interest was her business career in a New York publishing house, and sympathy for John surged through her at the realization his marriage was not a happy one. As the weeks passed, her mood underwent a small shift of rooms and Alec would occupy when they married. Helen's anger at John's refusal to live in town during the winter reached a new high one stormy evening when she was driving home from the office, and she determined to settle the argument once and for all when she arrived.
CHAPTER TWELVE
STONE HOUSE at last. Helen turned into the drive and ratched up to the front door. Thomas could put the car away. She had had enough. Gathering up her handbag, she got out, closed the door behind her and mounted the steps carefully in her thin, high-heeled pumps. A moment later she stood in the warm hall.
She was late for dinner, as usual. But she didn't care, and neither, she suspected, did anyone else, unless it might be old Auntie trying to keep something hot for her. Tossing off her coat and scarf and dropping them on a chair, she went past the empty living room, thinking she couldn't be very late, after all. Everybody must still be at the table.
But no one was except Anne and John so deep in conversation they were startled by her appearance. Not even a thought from John about her welfare on a night like this? Helen asked herself. And she spoke with sharpness.
"You look very tete-a-tete!"
Where are the others?"
John, who had risen to pull out her chair for her, answered that his mother was putting a hot mustard plaster on a rebellious Gram and Henry was in the living room. "Pardon me. He's not. The radio is going but no one is there. Perhaps he saw me coming." She gave a short laugh. "Certainly no one else did." Reaching out her hand, she tinkled the small brass table bell. "Starving, Annabel." she said, as the girl appeared. "And tell Tom to put my car away, please. It's at the front." To John, "Judy is in bed, I hope?"
"Yes."
"Was it bad driving?" Anne asked.
"Terrific."
John said, "I thought surely you'd stay in the city tonight."
Helen flipped open her napkin without bothering to answer that it hadn't been sleeting when she left, and picked at the food Annabel now brought her. Anne's question had irritated her. It was smug, indeed, it might even have held a measure of criticism. What were you doing out on a night like this? Why weren't you here with your husband and child? Yet who was Anne to criticize her? When you stopped to consider the matter, she had had a lot of brass to settle down here as she had before being married to Alec! Giving up her job, moving in bag and baggage—
Helen's eyes followed her as she rose and, with some ready excuse, left them together. She went in the direction of the kitchen, moving lightly, happily, and Helen's irritation increased.
John refilled his pipe and lit it. Helen nibbled at a piece of steak, then abruptly put down her fork. "How long do you imagine I can keep up this pace, John?"
"Your job, you mean?"
"No! Commuting."
He was silent a moment, smoking. Then he said, "You don't have to keep it up. You never have had to."
Her eyes flashed. "Your work is your life, you say! Well, mine is, too!" She pushed aside her plate and tried to speak calmly because the only possible way to get anywhere with John was to be reasonable. "I wish you'd come upstairs. I would like to talk with you."
"Don't you want any dinner?"
"I've had enough."
"You've hardly eaten a thing. I thought you were so hungry." She stood up. "I've had all I want."
He followed her past the living room where the radio was still playing softly, and up the broad front stairs to the bedroom above it. Beyond, over the porch, was the nursery where Judy lay sleeping. Their room, in a color scheme of green, silver and black, was furnished in modernistic manner with two broad divans, easy chairs that had chromium arms and bases, leather stools and stepped-up bookcases. Their bureau and chiffonier were in the large bathroom. He went now to stand by the fireplace. Helen walked up and down smoking a cigarette, a fine dark line between her eyes. "I'm trying to be fair," she said, at last. "I believe I have been. But I think it's your turn."

"What do you mean, exactly?" She faced him. "Don't you realize that for eight years I've lived your way? Eight years! It's time for you to make some concessions, it seems to me!"
He drew on his pipe, his expression quiet. Presently he said, "Such as?"
"Give me one good reason why you won't go to New York for the winter?"
"I can't afford it. That's one. And I couldn't leave even if I could finance it. That's another. You know both of those things as well as I do, Helen."
"I don't know both of those things! Why can't you leave? It's absurd for you to say that!"
"There's no one competent to take my place."
"That is so ridiculous I could scream. There are four men here. Four!"
"A colored man, with limitations and without authority. A veteran with a wooden leg and not too strong a constitution. Two inexperienced boys."
"But you could always phone them to check on things! You could come out once a week if need be! What goes on here at this time of year that requires your presence every day?"
He thought, how little you know for all you share my life. Aloud he said, "The lambs begin dropping next month. I can't be away then. I never know when sickness may strike a valuable animal. The difference between saving and losing one might lie in the time it took me to reach here. And every dollar counts. Then, too, the pruning in the orchards must be done before the sap begins to run. I'm the only one who can oversee that. There's also the sugaring off. And maybe you don't realize it, but I spend many hours at my desk reading and writing. My books are here. Everything! I couldn't possibly carry on in New York, Helen!"

NEW JOB FOR HARRIMAN

W. AVERELL Harriman has abundant background for his new job, that of roving ambassador to Europe in connection with the European Recovery Program. He should be well fitted to assist in working out both diplomatic and economic questions which are bound to arise in great numbers in European capitals.

Presumably an important part of his job also will be to keep the administration informed as to European planning for Marshall Plan aid and use of it as it comes through. The government at Washington needs to know, from a competent first-hand observer, what is going on in government and business circles in Europe as American billions stream across the seas. The roving ambassador can help to assess the effectiveness of the program.

It is indicated that while the position of Mr. Harriman is secondary to that of Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the program, yet he will have considerable freedom of movement with his rank as ambassador-at-large. The position is one of great potential value in our relations with Europe.

Perhaps the most pressing work Mr. Harriman will be called upon to do as he moves about Europe will be to help Marshall Plan dollars become, as they are intended to be, salesmen for the philosophy of the western world.

GOVERNMENT BY STRIKE

LET US be clear about the Lewis coal strike business. The right to strike is precious, considered by most Americans among their "unalienable rights." They believe it an essential part of the individual's right to liberty.

It is not this right for an individual to decide whether or not he will work under certain circumstances which is now called into question by his fellow-citizens. It is the use of this right for phoney purposes to which Americans justifiably object. Above all it is the turning of this just right into a wholly unjust effort at government by strike which is under contention.

John L. Lewis as a union leader trying honestly and fairly to improve the lot of the members of his union might be a figure to respect. But John L. Lewis trying to flout the laws of his nation, to bring them into disrepute and himself into a position of unjustifiable power, is in very deep disdain by his fellow Americans.

No one man, no one union or other group is greater than the United States of America. John L. Lewis and some other people will have to learn that some time. Americans sincerely hope the time is now.

Just as we were going to make a new holler about taxes, we read in a London paper that England was ordering another investment levy of ten to fifty per cent. Gosh, how those Britishers can take it!

Up to a morning of high temperature, mid-summer in April. All over the county great farming activity. Tractors going day and night on late plowing. Peas already in the ground and some corn. Wheat never looked better from the highway. Too thick, if anything. And what a cherry crop in the making. Trees loaded heavier than for years. And that is saying something. Maybe a big year is ahead. Well, we can use it.

Chatted with Loring Hoffman and Pop Betz just back from a fishing trip to Cedar Hill camp on Dale Hollow lake in Tennessee. Both have been Canadian fishermen for years and both said the same thing about Dale Hollow: "Saw more bass, the majority slungers, than in all the years that have gone past." Must be quite a spot. Looks as though the early bass season will close here before the streams are in any condition to fish. Six weeks protection for bass before the season opens.

Jim Arledge told me of a whip-poor-will calling nightly in a tree near his house. Didn't know the birds came into this territory. They always keep me awake for a couple of nights when I go into Canada. Only thing I can say for their "song" is that it is repetitious. And, consequently, very tiring.

Down in the West end to see Linc Mader's boat I have heard so much about, but he was absent and the viewing postponed. Made it myself and friends say it is like an exceptionally fine factory job. Must be good.

Exchanged greetings with Herschel, the implement dealer, finding him in his usual good humor and luck as usual. Someday I will match that fellow and defeat him. Then a half holiday in celebration.

Met up with Ed Sensenbrenner for the first time since he was hurriedly carted off to the hospital many weeks ago and frightened us with reports of a dying condition. Thin and weak, but moving around outside and still the same old Ed. Hope he does not return to his endless day routine at the jewelry store. He'll do a lot better adding to the 2,500 miles on that new car.

Fred Clark told me of the need of more eye glasses to be handed out gratis to folk who can not afford to buy new ones. A service he has been providing for many years. Needy persons call on Fred and try on glasses until they find a pair suiting their needs. Supply mighty low right now.

Drank early coffee with Herb Fry and George Fishpaw. Herb picking up strength against the late afternoon when he expected to plant 200 pounds of seed potatoes. Ventured the opinion that the planting should be heavier, but he opined he would have enough for the Winter and many to sell. Didn't tell him, but that planting, if it were mine, would just about produce a skimpy potato salad.

Home in mid-afternoon to continue pampering a cold that has had me barking like an angry bulldog for the last ten days. Early to bed and late to sleep.

These Days

If even a part of Maurice M. Milligan's indictment of the President is true, Harry Truman has no moral right to be in the White House. He should resign. For while the former United States district attorney for the western district of Missouri absolves Mr. Truman from personal complicity in the conspiracy to steal elections in Kansas City, he nonetheless puts him on the scene of the crime and produces in detail the coverup. If Milligan is in error, Truman ought to establish the error, if not for his own sake, surely for the good name of the country.

All this appears in a book which was originally called "Missouri Waltz" but which was finally given the title: "The Inside Story of the Pendergast Machine by the Man Who Smashed It." I received a telegram from Scribner's saying: "Do not in any way use title 'Missouri Waltz' which was on first editions." This telegram ended "cooperation appreciated." As the long title is sufficient to kill any book, it is altogether clear that Scribner's were intimidated. The suggestion is that somebody once put that title to music and so it's exclusive like "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes."

Be that as it may, the book is terrific, not because it is the story of the Pendergast Gang by the man who thought that he has smashed it, but because it tells the story of how the President of the United States resurrected it.

Frankly, I am little interested in Pendergast. The shame of our cities is the long tale of the association of politicians with crooked contractors, gamblers, prostitutes, brothel keepers, and murderers. Always a politician stands in the middle, collecting from the criminals, paying off the officials. The American people have tolerated this indecency since Aaron Burr organized Tammany Hall. Both parties have produced their share of swinish beasts who have wrecked their municipalities for their own enrichment. Pendergast may have been one of the worst or he may only have run true to form. He is dead and is probably settling his score where he cannot steal votes.

As long as Milligan deals with that, it is old shoe. But when he puts the President of the United States into this business, it becomes a matter of public concern. Milligan, being a lawyer, protects himself with one sentence:

"At no time did the finger of suspicion ever point in the direction of Senator Truman."

But that means nothing except in a court of law. In fact, Milligan himself questions the correctness of that statement by saying that subsequent events "—make me wonder whether I was right in issuing a clean bill of health." Actually, he accuses Truman of reviving the Pendergast machine of which he had been a part and, according to Milligan, still is a dues-paying, clubhouse part. According to Milligan, Pendergast's nephew, James, recommended Truman to the Boss and Truman has been everlastingly grateful, for James is now back in the saddle with the President's blessing.

Once Congress can disclose to the American people the records of public servants, it will be possible to disclose the records of the liars, spies and traitors who were working for foreign countries (foe or friend) while this nation was at war. Is Harry Truman President of the United States or just a good fellow looking after his friends? Milligan raises the question; somebody must answer it.

IS IT A BLACKWOOD?

NO misunderstanding between bidding partners can do more harm than that concerning the meaning of a 4-No Trump call. If the circumstances are such that the bidder thinks he is using the Blackwood convention when his partner considers it a natural bid—or if he means to be making a natural strength-showing call and his partner thinks it is a Blackwood—only the most extreme luck can save the pair from disaster. It is therefore well for partners to know the convention thoroughly, including its provisions as to when such a call is conventional, or at least to have the same ideas between them as to when they consider it to be such.

"Twas a sad story, mates. After West scored his heart A, South had enough winners to take fifteen tricks, had there been that many to be played. But they earned his side not a solitary point, whereas accurate bidding would have brought his side a nice score for the easiest small slam you ever saw.

All the trouble was caused by South's believing his 4-No Trumps constituted a Blackwood ace-asking bid, and that North's answer of 5-No Trumps indicated possession of all four aces. He told North so, and tried to fix the blame on the latter for his own call of the grand slam, which would have been easy if North had all of those aces.

"My 5-No Trumps was not meant as an answer to the Blackwood at all," said North. "We had not previously shown a suit fit or guaranteed one by a jump in some suit. So your 4-No Trumps sounded to me just a bit stronger than 3-No Trumps would. I thought you wanted to make a mild slam invitation, which I was unable to accept outright. When I bid just 5-No Trumps instead of small slam, I meant to put it up to you whether to pass or bid the small slam."

So when is a Blackwood not a Blackwood? Good idea for you and your partner to know.

DIET AND HEALTH

If Appendicitis Is Suspected

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Despite the signal advances made in the treatment of appendicitis, this disease still kills many every year, a needless loss of life because, when the doctor is given an opportunity to see a patient with appendicitis early, the chances for complete recovery are good.

For example, in more than 1400 operations for acute, simple appendicitis, only two patients succumbed. On the other hand, the death rate for ruptured appendix today is one out of 14, and 20 years ago it was higher still—one out of five.

Now the chief factor in bringing about ruptured appendix is delay in seeking treatment, and the above figures show how costly such delay can be.

Even so, fewer people die today from ruptured appendix than 20 years ago but this saving of lives is not due to any lessening of the tendency to put off going to the doctor, but rather to four great improvements in treatment. These are the giving of fluids and salt solutions into the patient's veins, the lessening of the pressure within the stomach and the intestines by the use of some special suction apparatus, the recognition and proper treatment of complications, and the use of penicillin and the sulfonamide drugs to combat infection.

Another measure There is still another measure which may be life-saving. This is the use of substances, such as dicoumarol which slows down the clotting of the blood. In patients who are forced to stay in bed because of ruptured appendix, a blood clot may develop in one of the veins of the legs. This may become loose and be carried along by the blood stream to a lung, resulting in what is known as pulmonary embolism. Most often, the patients who develop a pulmonary embolism are over fifty years of age. Hence, in such cases, the action of dicoumarol is especially valuable in preventing clot formation. Some surgeons may choose to tie a vein in the leg, to prevent a clot already formed from reaching the lung.

While all of these things have resulted in a lessened death rate from appendicitis, there is one aspect in which no improvement has occurred, according to many studies. As I said earlier, this is the delay on the part of the public in going to the doctor. In other words the number of cases of ruptured appendix continues about the same, although there has been great improvement in caring for patients with this condition.

Abdominal Pain

The symptoms of appendicitis consist of such things as pain in the right lower part of the abdomen, sometimes with sickness to the stomach and vomiting, slight fever, and an increase in the number of white cells in the blood. Tenderness over the appendix and some stiffness or rigidity of the muscles are also present.

When several of these symptoms occur, there is need to call the doctor at once. Failure to do so may carry with it the heavy penalty of death.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. M. What causes a lack of acid in the stomach?

A. The exact cause for this condition cannot be determined in many instances. It may accompany severe anemia, a lack of coloring matter in the blood. Cancer of the stomach may also be responsible for this condition.

The most important part of the treatment is to determine if this lack of acid is due to some recognizable condition, and to correct it if possible. Next, proper diet and the taking of a weak acid solution, prescribed by the physician, are of help.

ALICE ROSS COLVER

SYNOPSIS

Anne Forester had become engaged to Lieutenant Commander Alec Dorems following a whirlwind courtship in Hawaii over a year ago. Recently he had called her from the Far East to be ready to marry him soon at Stone House, his family's estate in Jersey. Julia, his mother, was overjoyed when Anne accepted her invitation to stay with them. Her departure from New York was a blow to cynical Donald Ogden, who had long been in love with her. Stone House had been in the Dorems family for generations and the beauty of its acres of model farmsteads thrilled Anne as John, Alec's serious-minded older brother, explained all it meant to him. Besides John, his wife, Helen and Judy, their small daughter, the household consisted of Alec's parents, Julia and Henry Dorems; Henry's mother, "Gram" Dorems; and Julia's mother, Madame Kingsley. It was soon evident to Anne that Helen's only interest was her business career in a New York publishing house, and sympathy for John surged through her at the realization his marriage was not a happy one. As the weeks passed a bond of understanding based on their mutual love of Stone House formed between them. When word from Alec arrived saying his discharge had been postponed, Anne thought of returning to her job and apartment in New York, but Julia induced her to move her possessions to the small suite of rooms she and Alec would occupy when John, Helen's anger at John's refusal to live in town during the winter reached a new high one stormy evening when she was driving home from the office, and she determined to settle the argument once and for all when she arrived.

CHAPTER TWELVE

STONE HOUSE at last. Helen turned into the drive and ricocheted up to the front door. Thomas could put the car away. She had had enough. Gathering up her handbag, she got out, closed the door behind her and mounted the steps carefully in her thin, high-heeled pumps. A moment later she stood in the warm hall.

She was late for dinner, as usual. But she didn't care, and neither, she suspected, did anyone else, unless it might be old Auntie trying to keep something hot for her. Tossing off her coat and scarf and dropping them on a chair, she went past the empty living room, thinking she couldn't be very late, after all. Everybody must still be at the table.

But no one was except Anne and John so deep in conversation they were startled by her appearance. Not even a thought from John about her welfare on a night like this? Helen asked herself. And she spoke with sharpness.

"You look very tete-a-tete!"

Where are the others?"

John, who had risen to pull out her chair for her, answered that his mother was putting a hot mustard plaster on a rebellious Gram and Henry was in the living room.

"Pardon me. He's not. The radio is going but no one is there. Perhaps he saw me coming." She gave a short laugh. "Certainly no one else did." Reaching out her hand, she tinkled the small brass table bell. "Starving, Annabel," she said, as the girl appeared. "And tell Tom to put my car away, please. It's at the front."

"John, Judy is in bed, I hope?"

"Yes."

"Was it bad driving?" Anne asked.

"Terrific."

John said, "I thought surely you'd stay in the city tonight."

Helen flipped open her napkin without bothering to answer that it hadn't been sleeping when she left, and picked at the food Annabel now brought her. Anne's question had irritated her. It was absurd, indeed, it might even have held a measure of criticism. What were you doing out on a night like this? Why weren't you here with your husband and child? Yet who was Anne to criticize her? When you stopped to consider the matter, she had had a lot of brass to settle down here as she had before being married to Alec! Giving up her job, moving in bag and baggage—

Helen's eyes followed her as she rose and, with some ready excuse, left them together. She went in the direction of the kitchen, moving lightly, happily, and Helen's irritation increased.

John refilled his pipe and lit it. Helen nibbled at a piece of steak, then abruptly put down her fork. "How long do you imagine I can keep up this pace, John?"

"Your job, you mean?"

"No! Commuting."

He was silent a moment, smoking. Then he said, "You don't have to keep it up. You never have had to."

Her eyes flashed. "Your work is your life, you say! Well, mine is, too!" She pushed aside her plate and tried to speak calmly because the only possible way to get anywhere with John was to be reasonable. "I wish you'd come upstairs. I would like to talk with you."

"Don't you want any dinner?"

"I've had enough."

"You've hardly eaten a thing. I thought you were so hungry."

She stood up. "I've had all I want."

He followed her past the living room where the radio was still playing softly, and up the broad front stairs to the bedroom above it. Beyond, over the porch, was the nursery where Judy lay sleeping. Their room, in a color scheme of green, silver and black, was furnished in modernistic manner with two broad divans, easy chairs that had chromium arms and bases, leather stools and stepped-up bookcases. Their bureau and chiffonier were in the large bathroom. He went now to stand by the fireplace. Helen walked up and down smoking a cigarette, a fine dark line between her eyes.

"I'm trying to be fair," she said, at last. "I believe I have been. But I think it's your turn."

"What do you mean, exactly?" She faced him. "Don't you realize that for eight years I've lived your way? Eight years! It's time for you to make some concessions, it seems to me!"

He drew on his pipe, his expression quiet. Presently he said, "Such as?"

"Give me one good reason why you won't go to New York for the winter!"

"I can't afford it. That's one. And I couldn't leave even if I could finance it. That's another. You know both of those things as well as I do, Helen."

"I don't know both of those things! Why can't you leave? It's absurd for you to say that!"

"There's no one competent to take my place."

"That is so ridiculous I could scream. There are four men here. Four."

"A colored man, with limitations and without authority. A veteran with a wooden leg and not too strong a constitution. Two inexperienced boys."

He thought. How little you know for all you share my life. Aloud he said, "The lamba begin dropping next month. I can't be away then. I never know when sickness may strike a valuable animal. The difference between saving and losing one might lie in the time it took me to reach here. And every dollar counts. Then, too, the pruning in the orchards must be done before the sap begins to run. I'm the only one who can oversee that. There's also the sgarling off. And maybe you don't realize it, but I spend many hours at my desk reading and writing. My books are here. Everything! I couldn't possibly carry on in New York, Helen!"

On April 27, 1939, the British House of Commons authorized conscription in Great Britain. In 1945, in World War II, the Americans and Russians met on the Elbe river, Germany. On this date, in 1521, Ferdinand Magellan, Portuguese navigator, was killed in an insurrection of natives while on an expedition in the Philippine Islands.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Many happy returns of the day to Ludwig Bemelmans, author, and Rogers Hornsby, former baseball player.

Ex-ship's mate Ex-sock actress

JOBS UPON A TIME

After five years in the United States Merchant Marine, tall, blond Stirling Hayden has returned to motion pictures. Five years on the rolling deep was not a new experience for Stirling, as in 1937 he cruised around the world as mate, and later served as captain on Warner Buxton's yacht, the Aries. His first picture work was in 1941, and that was also the year he joined Uncle Sam's merchant fleet.

Motion Picture Actress Spring Byington began her screen career in 1933 in "Little Women." Before that Miss Byington had been a stock actress, starting in Denver, Colo., and later touring the United States and South America. Her New York stage debut came in 1924 in "Beggar on Horseback," followed by numerous other plays, including Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice."

MODERN MANNERS

Invitations to a silver wedding anniversary party, (25 years) should be lettered in silver.

YOUR FUTURE

Fortune favors you financially. Seek spiritual guidance, do a good turn for someone close to you. You will experience monetary gains and promotion in your next year, but you may also have a sudden reversal due to an unwise, impulsive decision, so be careful. Scrutinize important documents carefully.

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. No, sometimes they wander about aimlessly. When roosting time comes, however, a crow heads straight for home, no matter how far away it may be.
2. A sweater.
3. About as large as a present day elephant.
4. Three times.
5. Vermont and Texas; also California, the so-called "Bear Republic."

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Harold Defenbaugh, East Main street funeral director, is suffering from influenza in his home.

'Victor Herbert' Evening Is Staged By Monday Club

Mrs. Percy May Is Narrator

A "Victor Herbert" program featured this week's meeting of Monday Club in the trustee's room of Memorial hall.

Miss Mary K. May, program chairman, presented Mrs. Percy May, who reviewed the life of Victor Herbert. In opening her biography she told the group, "Herbert was born in Dublin, Ireland, and at the age of two was taken by his widowed mother to England."

"He started his musical education at Stuttgart conservatory in Germany, and began his career as a cellist with an established orchestra touring Europe. In these years of travel and work he picked up information of musical instruments along with the knowledge of four languages."

"Herbert came to America in 1886 and signed a contract with Frank Damrosch, brother of Walter Damrosch of the Metropolitan Opera Co. While appearing with the Metropolitan, he found time to compose many songs."

"His later pursuits to write more serious music lead him to study martial music for his operettas. Later he accepted the position of conductor with the Pittsburgh symphony orchestra and redeemed his classic talents again," according to Mrs. May.

Mrs. May presented the Monday Club Chorus, in the following selections: "Toyland," "I'm Falling In Love With Someone" and "Neath The Southern Moon."

From the operetta, "The Only Girl," Mrs. Arthur Wagar sang, "When You're Away." Mrs. Leah Ann Bracey sang, "Ah, Sweet Mystery Of Life," and "Kiss Me Again."

Vocal duets offered by Mrs. Dudley J. Carpenter and Mrs. Wagar were "Thine Alone" and "Moonbeams."

Mrs. James Moffitt directed the chorus, in "Sweethearts," "Kiss In The Dark" and "Italian Street Song." Mrs. Robert Wallace and Mrs. Wagar sang, "My Little Summer." Mrs. Carpenter sang, "Jeannette And Her Little Wooden Shoes" and "Because You're You."

In conclusion, the chorus sang "Romany Life" from "The Fortune Teller." Mrs. May closed her discourse by stating "Herbert kept diligently at work and at the time of his death he was completing the musical score for Ziegfeld Follies. His death on May 26, 1934, was mourned by the nation."

"The Rev. Dr. Ernest Stires spoke the eulogy 'We shall never be able to think of Victor Herbert without thinking of melody, his work lives, is permanent and eternal.'"

Mrs. Melvin Kiger presided over the business meeting. Reports were given of the annual Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in session last week in Columbus by Mrs. Moffitt, Mrs. Norbert L. Cochran, and Mrs. Barton Deming.

A new peak of 3,500,000 washing machines was expected for 1947. In 1939 1,433,000 were produced.

GETTING MONEY'S WORTH?

State Aide Tells County Start Combining Schools

"Are we getting our money's worth from out present educational system?" was one of the principal questions posed Monday night by A. D. St. Clair, field agent for the state department of education before a group of 50 educational leaders from the western half of Pickaway County.

In attendance were members of the county board of education, township boards of education and interested teachers and citizens from nine districts in the western section.

While he emphasized that the state had nothing to sell to its counties, St. Clair urged the various boards of education to act toward consolidation of their schools "before the state steps in and does it for you."

He said, "while it is not exactly clear in our minds what should be done to remedy the inefficiency of scattered schools, we are certain of one thing—something must be done soon if we are to give our students a proper education to fit them for competitive life after school."

TWO BIG questions face school boards today, the state representative declared.

First, the mounting costs of maintaining a school system, and second, whether the present program is going to fit the student for life after he graduates.

This was St. Clair's second visit to Pickaway County school boards to propose the idea of consolidation. Last month he spoke to a group from the eastern half of the county.

Consolidation of schools that house small numbers of students would give students in farm community schools the same advantages proffered by large city schools, St. Clair pointed out.

He declared a high school should not have less than 250 students and the ideal enrollment in Pickaway County would be about 500 students. "This would allow this county two high schools to provide for its 875 high school students," the speaker stated.

As it is, St. Clair explained, the smaller schools in this county with 50, 60 and 70 pupils can not afford to offer courses in vocational training, trade school training, nursing, electrical training, home economics and other courses necessary for a child's education.

PICKAWAY County schools are about average with other schools in the state, and like most other counties it is overbuilt with schools.

St. Clair proposed that each district set up should have the 12-year system. This would let students begin their elementary education in the same district in which their high school is located.

"Consolidation would eliminate high transportation costs, too," the state representative continued. He emphasized, however, that the elementary schools would remain in their present locations—at least for the immediate future.

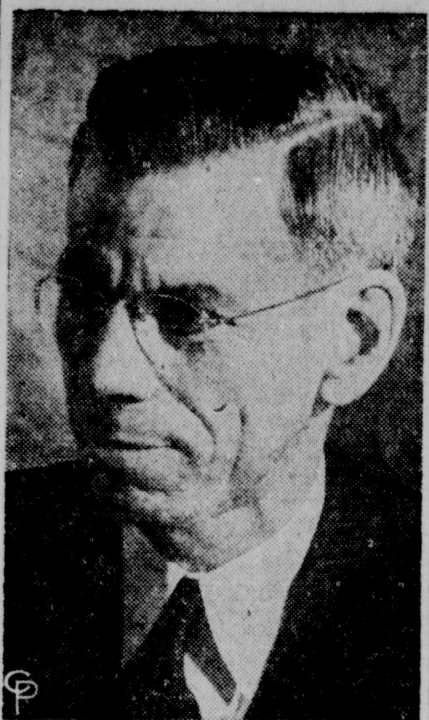

The ideal elementary school would allow 240 pupils for the eight grades. This would provide for 30 pupils to a class, St. Clair declared. "Anything less is a big expense to the taxpayer," he said.

"Schools now are operating the same as they did 10 or 15 years ago, but farming is not done the same," he pointed out wryly.

"This is one reason why you can ask most any high school student today what he wants to do and he'll tell you he doesn't know," the state agent stated.

"We don't give them a chance to learn what to do in our outmoded school systems."

New Brownie Girl Scout Troop Formed Here

A new Brownie Girl Scout Troop has been formed here with Mrs. Fannie Nash Cooper and Mrs. Mary Dalton Johnson appointed leaders.

Mrs. Pauline Jones was selected chairman of the group. Her assistants will be Mrs. Jane Byrd and Mrs. Beulah Thomas.

Members of the troop are Charlene Ann Bass, Geneva Lavona Johnson, Edith Jones, Evelyn Johnson, Mary Louzetta Lewis, Mary Ann Johnson, Nancy Byrd, Janice Byrd and Jane Cooper.

Members of the development program committee are: Mrs. William D. Radcliff, Mrs. John Gordon, Mrs. Everett Stocklen and Mrs. Carl Snyder met with the girls' parents to organize the troop. They selected 2 p. m. Saturday as the date for the regular meeting.

There are other girls waiting to become Scouts, but the troop development committee needs volunteer leaders and workers. They ask those who wish to help in any capacity to contact Mrs. Radcliff, Mrs. Barton Deming or Mrs. Stocklen.

Baritone Walter Cassel To End Local Concert Group's Season

From trumpet player to operatic star of concert and radio fame, the life story of baritone Walter Cassel, who will appear here Friday evening in Cliftona theatre reads like a Horatio Alger success story.

Cassel's concert here will be the third and last in a series offered by the Circleville Community Concert Association.

Association officials have made no announcement concerning a program for next Fall or Spring.

Born in Iowa, Cassel's first association with music was instrumental rather than vocal. His musical career dates back to the day when he received a trumpet as a birthday gift from his uncle and thereafter nursed the ambition to become a trumpet "virtuoso" patterned after his idol—Del Stagers.

ENCOURAGED by the many contests he won with his trumpet playing as a member of the school band in Thomas Jefferson high school in Council Bluffs, Cassel might have realized his childish dream had he not also joined the glee club in his last years at school and discovered an even greater talent—singing. He entered a state contest and won first prize, and knew he had found his life's work.

Cassel's versatility at different types of work served him well in the next few years when he had to combine his voice studies with making a living.

He tried many things—a pre-dental course, sign painting, flour-milling—but always gave first place to his singing. He also played the trumpet in the evenings for various dance bands, to further supplement his income.

Cassel's steady rise to fame during the next few years as one of America's outstanding baritone singers was remarkable. He credits Thornton Fisher, the noted sports writer, who had once expressed his deep admiration for the baritone in a fan letter, for giving him his first introduction to musical New York. After Cassel's first appearance in radio on NBC's original professional talent show, he began to sing on one show after another.

IN 1943, he won a long coveted Metropolitan Opera contract and made his debut in Manon as "De Bretigny." He has since delighted audiences in his various roles—Valentin in "Faust," Silvius in "Pagliacci," Germont in

WALTER CASSEL

"La Traviata," and many other performances.

During the past two seasons he has been a guest star of the San Antonio Opera Festival, where he sang the parts of Escamillo in "Carmen," Marcello in "La Boheme," and Alfio in "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Last year under the sponsorship of the Los Angeles Light Opera Co., he made a nationwide tour and sang the starring role in "The Desert Song."

The bandits had entered the bank and overpowered members of the staff when they arrived for work. They then ordered the teller to open the vault. The cashiers began to scream.

McGill was in a nearby barber shop awaiting a haircut when the excitement began. He ran to the scene without waiting to pick up his own gun.

Bob Topping here yesterday had plenty of refreshment equipment.

A glassware inventory today listed the following:

Twelve dozen champagne glasses; 12 dozen cocktail glasses; ten dozen highball glasses; 30 shot glasses; one dozen cognac snifters; one dozen Tom Collins; six dozen old fashioned; 24 whiskey sour glasses; 24 sherry glasses. There were no water glasses.

PARTY POLICY QUESTIONED

Taft's Lillenthal Stand Causes Flurry In Senate

WASHINGTON, April 27—The old adage about a politician staying in Washington so long that he loses touch with his people may be reversed in the case of Robert A. Taft versus David E. Lillenthal.

Taft, busy campaigning for the presidency in his home state of Ohio, announced that he would oppose Lillenthal's reappointment as head of the Atomic Energy Commission.

And, whether he realized it would happen, his statement is brewing quite a little storm among his Republican pals on Capitol Hill.

Once again, some of the GOP stalwarts in the Senate are a bit irked because he didn't consult with them before announcing a stand which might, in some quarters, be interpreted as representing party policy.

SENATE Republican Leader Wallace H. White of Maine made it quite clear during the weekend that he didn't consider it party policy. What made his saying that he "might support" Lillenthal's nomination all the more pointed at the moment was the fact that a year ago he was numbered among those who opposed the former TVA official's appointment.

In addition to White, it was pretty generally conceded in Capitol cloakroom conversation that Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) would continue to support Lillenthal who is completing a year's service as AEC chairman.

All of which indicates Taft may be in for a slightly turbulent time when he returns to follow through in his fight against Lillenthal.

One Republican senator who, as yet, has not committed himself publicly on the subject, said privately that he objected to Taft's remark that "many other senators" also opposed Lillenthal's reappointment.

"Considering Taft's well-known party standing," he said, "that sounds as though he meant most of the Republicans in the Senate agree with him. I don't think they do—by any manner of means."

HE CONCEDED that some GOP leaders felt that President Truman should not have stretched the AEC chairmanship from one year to five, but said that was something which certainly "has no bearing" on Lillenthal's qualifications or ability.

Other Republican senators expressed the opinion that Taft had placed the party in a bad light in that he did not, (1) specify a single thing Lillenthal had done wrong in his first year's administration, and, (2) suggest anyone better fitted for the job.

"As a result," one of them said, "it makes us sound as though we were planning to play 'spoils system' politics with the Atomic Energy Commission—and the production of atomic bombs—and that's one field where the voters wouldn't stand for that sort of stuff."

Prior to White's statement that he "might" support Lillenthal's reappointment, there was a lengthy huddle of several GOP "freshmen" senators who slapped Taft's fingers earlier in the session for not consulting them more often on party policies.

Prowler Sought In Death Case

CLEVELAND, April 27—An intensified search was begun today for a prowler reported by two suburban East Cleveland residents on the night Mrs. Ilda M. Koogler was murdered in the back yard of her home.

Police Chief Horace S. Weaver of the suburb ordered a three-day hunt after Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber reported the 60-year-old widow had been criminally assaulted before she died of multiple skull fractures.

With the help of Cleveland's homicide squad, a survey was begun to learn whether men with records of sex offenses had recently been released or had escaped from state hospitals.

Sailors Plead With Governor

COLUMBUS, April 27—Governor Herbert considered today a letter signed by 34 crew members of the Coast Guard Cutter Clover urging mercy for a 17-year-old convicted murderer, Donald Frohner.

The signers are former shipmates of Frohner's brother, Ted, who went to Columbus to save the youth from the electric chair. Herbert said he wrote the men their letter would "be given full consideration."

Frohner was sentenced for killing an Ashtabula salesman near Youngstown, Jan. 13, 1947. His companion, Arthur N. Chapman, 17, is serving a life sentence for the same killing.

Hour-Long Seige Ends As Quarry Kills Himself

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 27—An hour-long police seige at the Upper Sandusky home of Ezra Hablitzel had ended today in the suicide of the quarry, Hablitzel's brother-in-law, Charles Crawford, alias Arthur Meek, 60.

Crawford shot himself to death with the shotgun he intended to use to kill Hablitzel and a niece, Mildred Crawford.

Hablitzel said he and the niece returned from a neighborly visit to find Crawford in their cellar.

He said the crazed man

confronted them with the shotgun and shouted, "I'll kill you both."

Hablitzel and Miss Crawford fled in opposite directions.

Police, answering a neighbor's call, found Crawford had slashed the furniture with a pocketknife and barricaded himself in the house.

The officers surrounded the house and called several times for Crawford to surrender.

After an hour's wait, they were answered by a shotgun blast. They found Crawford had turned the gun on his own head.

Akron Infant Feels No Pain, Still Is Normal

AKRON, April 27 — One-year-old Beverly Smith of Akron runs, plays and cries as any normal child would, but her cries are never caused by pain.

Beverly is one of four or five such persons in the world, doctors said when she was taken to Children's hospital. For some reason, the sensation of pain is not transmitted and she would never feel a spanking.

The child sleeps in a padded crib because she is not aware that a fall can be serious. She also fails to realize that burns hurt.

Beverly was first noted to be a painless baby when she bumped her head at the age of six months and did not cry. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victory Smith, took her to several doctors who were unable to diagnose any illness.

Only after she was taken to a hospital for an injection was the doctor able to tell Beverly's parents about the child's condition.

This is the "emblem" of The Land of Plenty — the six great states served by the Norfolk and Western Railway — Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, North Carolina, Maryland, Kentucky. It will keynote the Norfolk and Western's forthcoming national advertising campaign to sell American manufacturers on the superior industrial advantages offered by The Land of Plenty — where you live.

All over America, manufacturers are looking for good plant sites. They seek uncrowded tracts near markets, with dependable rail transportation to reach those markets . . . abundant and varied raw materials . . . home-rooted manpower . . . dependable electric power . . . plenty of industrial water . . . all-purpose Bituminous Coal . . . a modern ocean port . . . equable climate . . . cooperative state and local governments . . . room to grow . . . and fine communities where industrious people are content. The Land of Plenty has these advantages.

This month, the Norfolk and Western will launch an extensive advertising campaign to present to American manufacturers the convincing reasons why they will find their new plant sites in this territory. The N. & W.'s advertising, largely in full-color, will be published in national magazines and newspapers which go direct to top industrialists. The publications include: Fortune, Newsweek, Business Week, Forbes, United States News, Dun's Review, Manufacturer's Record, The Wall Street Journal and Chicago Journal of Commerce.

This bid for industrial development in and near the towns in which you live can mean better living for everyone. The Norfolk and Western Railway has faith in the future of The Land of Plenty and its people — confident that sound industrial development — more plants and industries — will mean more jobs, more dollars, greater productivity and better communities. The N. & W. is proud to tell the story of this fine territory.

The six great states served by the Norfolk and Western — Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, North Carolina, Maryland and Kentucky. This is The Land of Plenty.

PARTY POLICY QUESTIONED

Taft's Lilienthal Stand Causes Flurry In Senate

WASHINGTON, April 27—The old adage about a politician staying in Washington so long that he loses touch with his people may be reversed in the case of Robert A. Taft versus David E. Lilienthal.

Taft, busy campaigning for the presidency in his home state of Ohio, announced that he would oppose Lilienthal's reappointment as head of the Atomic Energy Commission.

And, whether he realized it would happen, his statement is brewing quite a little storm among his Republican pals on Capitol Hill.

Once again, some of the GOP stalwarts in the Senate are a bit irked because he didn't consult with them before announcing a stand which might, in some quarters, be interpreted as representing party policy.

SENATE Republican Leader Wallace H. White of Maine made it quite clear during the weekend that he didn't consider it party policy. What made his saying that he "might support" Lilienthal's nomination all the more pointed at the moment was the fact that a year ago he was numbered among those who opposed the former TVA official's appointment.

In addition to White, it was pretty generally conceded in Capitol cloakroom conversation that Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) would continue to support Lilienthal who is completing a year's service as AEC chieftain.

All of which indicates Taft may be in for a slightly turbulent time when he returns to follow through in his fight against Lilienthal.

One Republican senator who, as yet, has not committed himself publicly on the subject, said privately that he objected to Taft's remark that "many other senators" also opposed Lilienthal's reappointment.

"Considering Taft's well-known party standing," he said, "that sounds as though he meant most of the Republicans in the Senate agree with him. I don't think they do—by any manner of means."

HE CONCEDED that some GOP leaders felt that President Truman should not have stretched the AEC chairmanship from one year to five, but said that was something which certainly "has no bearing" on Lilienthal's qualifications or ability.

Other Republican senators expressed the opinion that Taft had placed the party in a bad light in that he did not, (1) specify a single thing Lilienthal had done wrong in his first year's administration, and, (2) suggest anyone better fitted for the job.

"As a result," one of them said, "it makes us sound as though we were planning to play 'spoils system' politics with the Atomic Energy Commission—and the production of atomic bombs—and that's one field where the voters wouldn't stand for that sort of stuff."

Prior to White's statement that he "might" support Lilienthal's reappointment, there was a lengthy huddle of several GOP "freshmen" senators who slapped Taft's fingers earlier in the session for not consulting them more often on party policies.

Prowler Sought In Death Case

CLEVELAND, April 27—An intensified search was begun today for a prowler reported by two suburban East Cleveland residents on the night Mrs. Ilda M. Koogler was murdered in the back yard of her home.

Police Chief Horace S. Weaver of the suburb ordered a threeway hunt after Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber reported the 60-year-old widow had been criminally assaulted before she died of multiple skull fractures.

With the help of Cleveland's homicide squad, a survey was begun to learn whether men with records of sex offenses had recently been released or had escaped from state hospitals.

Sailors Plead With Governor

COLUMBUS, April 27—Governor Herbert considered today a letter signed by 34 crew members of the Coast Guard Cutter Clover urging mercy for a 17-year-old convicted murderer, Donald Frohner.

The signers are former shipmates of Frohner's brother, Ted, who went to Columbus to save the youth from the electric chair. Herbert said he wrote the men their letter would "be given full consideration."

Frohner was sentenced for killing an Ashtabula salesman near Youngstown, Jan. 13, 1947. His companion, Arthur N. Chapman, 17, is serving a life sentence for the same killing.

Hour-Long Seige Ends As Quarry Kills Himself

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 27—An hour-long police seige at the Upper Sandusky home of Ezra Hablitzel had ended today in the suicide of the quarry. Hablitzel's brother-in-law, Charles Crawford, alias Arthur Meek, 60.

Crawford shot himself to death with the shotgun he intended to use to kill Hablitzel and a niece, Mildred Crawford.

Hablitzel said he and the niece returned from a neighborly visit to find Crawford in their cellar.

He said the crazed man

confronted them with the shotgun and shouted, "I'll kill you both."

Hablitzel and Miss Crawford fled in opposite directions.

Police, answering a neighbor's call, found Crawford had slashed the furniture with a pocket-

knife and barricaded himself in the house.

The officers surrounded the house and called several times for Crawford to surrender.

After an hour's wait, they were answered by a shotgun blast. They found Crawford had turned the gun on his own head.

Akron Infant Feels No Pain, Still Is Normal

AKRON, April 27—One-year-old Beverly Smith of Akron runs, plays and cries as any normal child would, but her cries are never caused by pain.

Beverly is one of four or five such persons in the world, doctors said when she was taken to Children's hospital. For some reason, the sensation of pain is not transmitted and she would never feel a spanking.

The child sleeps in a padded crib because she is not aware that a fall can be serious. She also fails to realize that burns hurt.

Beverly was first noted to be a painless baby when she bumped her head at the age of six months and did not cry. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victory Smith, took her to several doctors who were unable to diagnose any illness.

Only after she was taken to a hospital for an injection was the doctor able to tell Beverly's parents about the child's condition.

Akron Transit Dispute Ends

AKRON, April 27—Transportation returned to Akron today after 26 days in which residents were without busses.

Members of the International Association of Machinists, an independent union, and the Transport Workers CIO-Local No. 1 both accepted a 15-cents hourly wage boost and some concessions on other issues in the contract.

READY TO PLAY BALL. Night Softball League Set For Opener May 10. The Circleville Night Softball League will open May 10 at Ted Lewis Park with Richards and Tinks teams to play the opener for the six team league.

At a meeting of league heads Monday night, drawing for positions in the first week of the coming season's play were held, with Islys and Boyers to play on the second night of the league and Mums and Boys in the last game of the first week.

According to plans, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of every week during the season are to be league game nights, with Thursday reserved for rain-outs and Friday and Saturday to be used for exhibition games. Sunday, according to league officials, will be kept open.

League officials for the coming season are James Callihan, president; Russell Siegwald, treasurer; Cecil Andrews, secretary; Loring Davis, gate receipts; and Charles Hill, maintenance.

LEAGUE UMPIRES will be Irvin Smith, Ralph Roby, Jim Toole and Dwight Wilson.

The softball officials decided that a flag will be hoisted on the corner of Court and Main streets again this year, denoting the nights when there is to be a game played.

Citing the fact that last year the flag was neglected, some times left on the pole while the diamond had been under water, the men appointed Bill Piper, caretaker of the park, to post and remove the flag.

League officials agreed that if the diamond was not completed by the time the first game was scheduled, the games would be postponed indefinitely.

According to Callihan, "there's only one way I know of to complete the work, and that is to have the members of the teams in the league pitch in."

Callihan urged all league players to appear Tuesday, Thursday or Friday evenings and Sunday morning and afternoon to help condition the field.

Tribe Seen Setting New Clout Mark. NEW YORK, April 27—Could it be possible that the Cleveland Indians may set a new homerun record this year?

The New York Giants smashed all existing marks last season when they walloped a total of 221 round trippers, and they have kept rolling right along this season with 10 in eight games.

Cleveland, however, has done even better with 12 homers in only five games. Furthermore, they have ruined enemy pitchers with a total of 67 hits, an average of nearly 14 per game.

That kind of hitting, coupled with Bob Feller and Bob Lemon as the nucleus of a pitching staff, might even win the American League pennant for the Indians.

When the final count of yesterday's wild affair between the Tribe and the White Sox in Chicago was completed, the tally read:

Twenty-three runs. Thirty-seven hits. Eleven pitchers. Fourteen innings. Seven homers.

A million thrills, chills and laughs.

THE NICE thing about it all, as far as Cleveland fans are concerned, is that the Tribe finally came out on top, 12-11, after four hours and 14 minutes of baseball that has few parallels.

The Giants, leading the National League race by a game and a half, now have uncovered, within a space of two days, apparently reliable starting pitchers in Klesko, Sheldon Jones and the Veteran Bobo Newsum.

Before the season started, Larry Jansen seemed their only sure bet on the mound.

Boston's pitching prospects also brightened when Bill Voiselle, problem child of the Braves, held the Brooklyn Dodgers to three scattered singles and blanked them, 5 to 0.

In another brilliant mound performance, Fred Sanford of the St. Louis Browns bested Detroit's Lizzy Trout, 2 to 1. Sanford scored the winning run after hitting a double.

In the first night game of the season, the Boston Red Sox came up with a surprise package in Mel Parnell, who held the Washington Senators to five hits and blanked them, 6 to 0.

Gregg, Thomas On Dodger Farms. Russell Gregg of Ashville and Don Thomas of South Bloomfield, former Ashville Red ball players who tried out with the Brooklyn Dodgers this season, have been placed on two Class D Dodger farm teams for the season.

Gregg, who tried out as pitcher, was signed up by Zanesville, and is expected to open the first Ohio-Indiana league game there Tuesday night.

Thomas has been assigned the second sack duties with the Olean, N. Y. baseball club for the season.

Tigers Win First Tilt Of Season. Morris Whiffs 19 Batsmen. The Circleville Tiger baseball club broke into their first win in South Central League competition Monday afternoon, easily defeating the Wilmington Hurricanes by 9 to 1.

George Morris proved himself the big gun on the Tiger squad in Monday's game, striking out 19 of the opposition and allowing but three hits.

The Tigers scored a comfortable three-run margin in the first inning over the Hurricane squad, and in the top half of the second inning added another two, making the score 5 and 0 for the Red and Black.

However, the Wilmington lads aroused the ire of Pitcher Morris in the bottom half of the second frame by scoring their only run of the game.

MORRIS then clamped down on his hosts, fanning the next 15 batters who faced him.

Next Tiger game is scheduled for Friday afternoon, when Chauncey Dover is to invade Ted Lewis Park.

Following are the results of Monday's game:

Century plants flower in about 20 years, instead of every 100 years, as popularly supposed. When the plant blooms, all the food and energy which have been accumulating in its stem and leaves in its previous growth are drawn upon to produce a large flowering stem and seeds.

Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, was born in Kentucky, but when he was an infant the family moved to Mississippi and became cotton planters. Davis returned to Kentucky for four years' schooling before entering West Point.

Commodore George Dewey halted the battle of Manila bay on May 1, 1898, for his men to eat breakfast. He then reviewed the fight and destroyed the Spanish fleet.

Among people who permit polygyny (the system under which a man is married to several women at the same time), the majority live in monogamy, it is said. One reason is the expense multiple marriage.

cussion on radio's court of public opinion, the Mutual Network's "Opinion-aire" program, when "Should We Have a National F.E.P.C.?" is aired on Wednesday at 10 p. m.

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R), of New York, one of the leading proponents of such legislation, will speak on the "Opinion-aire" court-type presentation in the affirmative.

Rep. Clare Hoffman (R), of Michigan, will be heard in opposition to F.E.P.C.

The incredible disappearance of an entire barge-load of processed steel from its pier on the Ohio River engages the talents of Mutual's "Special Agent," Alan Drake, during "The Adventure of the Gray Market Blonde" drama to be broadcast Wednesday at 8 p. m.

The trail leads to a hot-jazz nightclub in the stay-out-late district of Pittsburgh, with Drake gambling against heavy odds as he attempts to uncover the lost steel.

A suburban cottage proves not to be a refuge for a young couple who have committed murder, particularly because of their very curious landlord, as told during Mutual's "Official Detective" dramatization of "Lease For Murder," which is scheduled for broadcast Tuesday at 8:30 p. m.

When Det. Lt. Dan Britt enters the case it is to investigate the disappearance of the landlord, with a cigarette butt the final clue leading to the apprehension of two killers.

When a girl tries to break up the friendship of two boys because she thinks one is taking up too much time of the other, her beau, trouble starts.

That's exactly what happens on "A Date With Judy" Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. over NBC. Judy feels that Elmo is keeping Oogie Pringle away from her and tries to do something about it.

Aileen Leslie has written a fast and funny script for this broadcast which stars Louise Erickson in the title role.

Ask "The Great Gildersleeve" what's cooking and you'll probably get a very explicit answer.

It's all because Gildy, in a moment of generosity, gives Birdie, his cook, a couple of days off during the broadcast Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. over NBC. Then the funny man discovers he has invited Aileen Fairchild, his romantic interest, for dinner.

When Gildy tries to prepare the meal, the fat is figuratively in the fire.

Mrs. Anderson puts her boarding house on a starvation diet during the next broadcast of the NBC comedy show, "A Day In The Life Of Dennis Day," on Wednesday at 8:00 p. m.

Her star boarder, Dennis Day, misinterprets the bread, water and clear soup menu as necessitated by the Anderson's poverty and turns their forthcoming anniversary party into a surprise shower.

"Oh, to be in England, now that April's there."

Putting poet Browning's nostalgic wish into action Parks Johnson and Warren Hull have taken the Vox Pop program to London, England, for the show of Wednesday, at 8:30 p. m. over ABC.

The world-travelling Box Poppers, whose broadcast last week originated in Paris, will interview a group of British men and women in London's Fortune Theatre in the heart of the British capital's theatre district.

Victor Moore, the lovable little gent who always gets trimmed, will visit the Kraft Music Hall Thursday at 9:00 p. m. over NBC.

Welcoming Victor will be headliner Al Jolson supported by pianist-wit Oscar Levant and Lou Bring and his orchestra. This will be Jolson's last show from Hollywood before he leaves for New York where he'll do his next few broadcasts.

Having passed three score and ten years, Victor Moore admits he has been in show business for more than a half century. Vic says he began his career in vaudeville back in the Gay Nineties and then transferred his talents to stock.

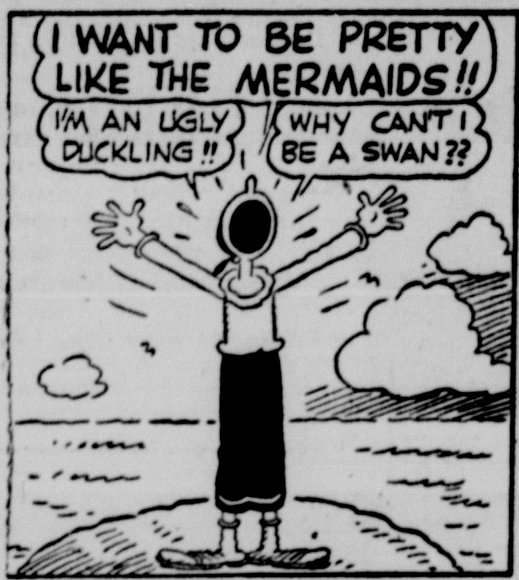

One of the tests of the Einstein theory is the change in the apparent position of a star as its light is bent while passing near the sun. Since this "shift" can only be observed during a total eclipse, observations remain imperfect.

One of the most controversial issues before the people will be presented as the subject for discussion on radio's court of public opinion, the Mutual Network's "Opinion-aire" program, when "Should We Have a National F.E.P.C.?" is aired on Wednesday at 10 p. m.

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R), of New York, one of the leading proponents of such legislation, will speak on the "Opinion-aire" court-type presentation in the affirmative.

Rep. Clare Hoffman (R), of Michigan, will be heard in opposition to F.E.P.C.

The incredible disappearance of an entire barge-load of processed steel from its pier on the Ohio River engages the talents of Mutual's "Special Agent," Alan Drake, during "The Adventure of the Gray Market Blonde" drama to be broadcast Wednesday at 8 p. m.

The trail leads to a hot-jazz nightclub in the stay-out-late district of Pittsburgh, with Drake gambling against heavy odds as he attempts to uncover the lost steel.

A suburban cottage proves not to be a refuge for a young couple who have committed murder, particularly because of their very curious landlord, as told during Mutual's "Official Detective" dramatization of "Lease For Murder," which is scheduled for broadcast Tuesday at 8:30 p. m.

When Det. Lt. Dan Britt enters the case it is to investigate the disappearance of the land lord, with a cigarette butt the final clue leading to the apprehension of two killers.

Cleanup Week To Be Staged Here Early Next Month

Mayor Asks All Citizens To Take Part

Rubbish-Dumping Law Is Cited

Cleanup Week will come to Circleville in the early part of May, Mayor Thurman I. Miller said Tuesday.

Miller said that Circleville would participate again this year in conjunction with the national cleanup program sponsored for the safety and benefit of citizenry the country over.

Along with his announcement, the mayor warned that a city ordinance states it is unlawful for persons to throw rubbish or trash upon the city's streets or alleys other than for immediate removal.

"The habit of throwing the rubbish on the streets must be stopped," the mayor said. "The practice is becoming increasingly popular with Circleville people, who are under the impression the city is obligated to do their cleaning for them."

"THE LAW READS that a fine of $50 and costs and—or a 10-day jail sentence can be imposed in case the practice gets out of hand."

Service Director Joseph Rooney said he and his men could be of little help during the campaign, since the street-patching program, along with the removal of 70,000 gallons of sludge from the city sewage disposal plant, would be in full swing by then.

Mayor Miller said he could not order the use of city trucks in the pickup program and declared the support of every citizen would be needed to make the campaign a success.

The advantages of the week are many," the mayor said. "Directly or indirectly it will help everyone who lives or has business in the city. Fires can be prevented, disease can be checked and business, on the whole, will benefit from the campaign."

Herbert's 'Zoo' Gets Increase

COLUMBUS, April 27—The governor's private "zoo" had its population increased by at least three today.

"Butler County Bob," the hunting dog at the Mansion, treed a possum last night on the mansion grounds. Attendants captured the animal and caged it in the garage.

Early today it was discovered that the possum had a blessed event during the night. At least two baby possums could be seen peeking from the mother animal's pouch.

Also at the mansion are rabbits, chickens, two turkeys—one of whom is sitting on 14 eggs—and another dog.

Wire rope was being made mechanically in the United States in 1846.

Ashville Boy, Girl Win Trips In Anti-Saloon League Contest

William Trego and Mary Fudge of Ashville have won all expense-paid trips—possibly to Washington D. C. and then to Florida—by scoring the highest marks in the county in a recent examination.

The examination was called the "Quick Book" test, given Saturday in the Ashville high school to representatives from the various county schools.

Students of the schools were given pamphlets several months ago published by the Ohio Anti-Saloon League which they were to study. The book dealt with the responsibility of the citizen to his community, state and government.

The expense-paid trip was the goal of all students who participated in the test, the students divided into boys' and girls' sections.

Following are the results of the first four places in the girls' division and the scores: Miss Fudge, 109; Mary Ellen Young, Circleville, 104½; Lois Defenbaugh, Saltcreek, 91½; Mary Ellen Grabill, Darby, 80½.

IN THE BOYS' division, the first four following scores were recorded: Trego, 102½; Raymond Goode, Circleville, 96½; Harvey Shonkwiler, Deercreek,

Bricker, Herbert Take Taft Stump

CLEVELAND, April 27—Two of Ohio's leading Republicans move into the battle this week to aid Sen. Robert A. Taft in his fight for delegates in the state's presidential preferential primary May 4.

Taft headquarters announced yesterday in Cleveland that Sen. John W. Bricker, Ohio's junior senator, and Gov. Thomas J. Herbert will stump the area where Harold E. Stassen opposes Taft in the final week of the campaign.

Taft leaders indicated other Republican leaders may be called on during the closing days of the campaign to support the Senate leader.

Taft and his wife, Martha, appeared together for the first time in the Ohio campaign yesterday in suburban Lakewood. The pair lashed out at Stassen for seeking delegates in districts "farthest removed from Cincinnati," the senator's home.

Hot-R-Cold Pack Is Perfected

CLEVELAND, April 27—A combination ice pack and hot water bottle—to chill a fevered brow or warm an aching muscle—was introduced today at the packaging exposition in Cleveland.

The new gadget is a plastic bag filled with a special liquid chemical which retains heat and cold for long periods.

For a cold pack the bag is placed in a refrigerator until the liquid congeals to a semi-solid state. For heating the bag is placed in a pan of hot water for five minutes.

7,710 Ex-GIs Now Receiving On-Job Training

The number of World War II veterans taking on-farm training and related classroom instruction in Ohio reached a new high of 7,710 on April 1, James P. Shea, Pickaway County veterans service officer, said Tuesday.

The total represented an increase of 1,445 trainees during March, including veterans training under both the GI Bill for the non-disabled and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act for the disabled.

The on-farm training program is divided into two phases—self proprietorship and employer-trainer. Self proprietorship training is for veterans who own, rent or lease the farms on which they reside, this group comprising nearly 90 percent of the total in training.

The employer-trainer program enables veterans to receive training on the farms of experienced and successful farm operators, Shea declared.

Taft Quarters In Mac's Suite

DAYTON, April 27—Taft-for-President Headquarters have been opened in Dayton—in the General MacArthur suite of the Miami hotel.

Hotel officials hastened to explain that the mezzanine suites in the hotel had been named for military heroes in World War II, and that the MacArthur suite was the only one unoccupied. There are also General Marshall and General Arnold suites.

Snyder believed his ewe had taken the normal course of nature.

But 11 days later when a twin was born he had reason to believe the ewe had been holding out on him.

Last reports say mother and twins are doing fine.
